PREFACE

"History may be formed from permanent monuments and records, but lives can only be written from personal knowledge, which is growing every day less and less, and, in a short time, is lost forever."

—Samuel Johnson

The recording of the history of a family usually begins as an interesting hobby. As one searches for information, however, one soon realizes that the passage of time has erased the memories of events, dates, and even names. We find that it becomes difficult to learn of the happenings and history of our forebears.

It is upon this task we have put forth our efforts—to make available to the present generation all the information we could garner and to record all the data available regarding the family and descendants of Simeon Lyon, who was born January, 1797, to William and Betsey Lyon of Dedham, Massachusetts.

The life and history of each of Simeon's five children, Henry, Charlotte, Hiram, Phebe, and William are documented by chapters. Each chapter traces the family history of that particular individual. Thus, one may readily learn of his direct ancestors and then also of his relatives if so inclined.

We are aware of certain discrepancies in information. We have gathered our data from many sources and have used records given to us by families concerned. Where we have been unable to verify our information, we have used that which seemed most reliable.

We have included in the biographical sketches interesting anecdotes, when available, which may help to make our ancestors people rather than mere names. Lack of information and failure to submit photographs with the questionnaires used in this compilation explain the brevity of some sketches and the absence of some pictures.

The authors wish to acknowledge the following sources for some of our material for this genealogy:

The Early Ancestry of Simeon Lyon

The family name of Lyon is of French derivation and descended from the ancient house of de Leonne from the noble race of the "Leones" of Rome.

The English family was founded by Sir Roger de Leonne, who was born in Lyons, France, about 1040 A.D. and came to England with William the Conqueror, of Normandy, in 1066 A.D. (Ancestral Heads of New England Families, p. 110). Sir Roger de Leonne also went into Scotland with King Edgar about the year 1091; for his services he obtained lands which were called Glen Lyon in Perthshire, Scotland.

The first known American ancestor of the Lyon family was William Lyon, son of William Lyon of Heston, Middlesex, England, who was descended from Sir Adam Lyon. (New York Genealogical and Biographical Record 1897, vol. 129, p. 100.) This family had been traced from the ancient house of de Leonne.

Some of the emigrants of the Lyon family who came to America after 1635 were from the branch who had settled in Scotland. These members of the family traced their descendency from Sir Thomas, Master of Glamis, and from the house of de Leonne. Some members of the Scotch branch had moved to North Ireland—to Enniskillen, County of Fermanagh, Province of Ulster. Some of these emigrants to Ireland who found the conditions not up to the expectations and promises from England moved on to the new world and were known as the Scotch-Irish branch of the family.

The first American William Lyon was on the passenger list of the ship "Hopewell" for September 11, 1635. (Public Records Office in London, England.) The list gave the signatures of Isaak Heath, age 50; Elizabeth Heath, age 40; Elizabeth Heath, age 5; William Lyon, age 14; Martha Heath, age 30; Grace Stokes, age 20; Tho. Bull, age 25; and Jos. Miller, age 25.

In the description of the passengers, William Lyon was said to be fourteen years old, baptized at Heston, near London, on December 23, 1620, traveling in the care of Isaak Heath. Grace Stokes, age twenty, was probably nurse to baby Elizabeth Heath and governess to boy William Lyon.

William Lyon sailed with the Heaths on the ship "Hopewell" for New England and settled with them in Roxbury, Massachusetts, in 1635. William Lyon is mentioned many times in the various volumes of the New England Historical Register. He was on a list of freemen, dated May 3, 1665, Roxbury, Massachusetts, which was in the County of Norfolk and a part of Boston.

William Lyon was the son of Anne Carter and William Lyon of Heston, Middlesex, England; father William Lyon was Gentleman, first son of John Lyon of Little Stanmer (Stanmer Parva), born about 1580, married Anne on July 17, 1615, died February 18, 1634, and was buried at Little Stanmer. Grandfather John Lyon was the fourth son of John of Ryslippe, County of Middlesex, born in 1510 to Henry of the same place. William Lyon who came to Roxbury had a sister Katherine Lyon, baptized August 25, 1616, and a brother John Lyon, baptized June 1, 1619, at Heston.

William Lyon of Roxbury married Sarah Rachel Ruggles on June 17, 1646. She was the daughter of John Ruggles, of Nazin, Essex, England, and Roxbury, and was baptized April 19, 1629. They had eight children: John, born April 10, 1647; Thomas, born August 8, 1648; Samuel, born June 10, 1650; William, born July 12, 1652; Joseph, born November 30, 1654 (also called John); Sarah, born March 8, 1657; Jonathan, born September 5, 1666; and another Jonathan in 1668 who died May 21, 1693. (Sarah) Rachel Ruggles Lyon died August 4, 1694 [February 9, 1688?], in Roxbury.

The sons of the first William Lyon all married and settled in Roxbury or nearby Dedham, Massachusetts, which is the county seat of Norfolk County and southwest of Boston. Dedham was one of the first two inland settlements of the Colony of 1635.

Descendants of these "Pilgrim Fathers" who braved the dangers of the sea to make a home in the American wilderness moved westward to Vermont, eastern New York, to Genesee Valley of central New York, to Pennsylvania, Ohio, and on to Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, and California.

"There is always a 'William' in every generation," was a saying as well as a tradition in the Lyon family. This has been documented in many early historical records. We find that William Lyon, son of the first William, married Sarah Dunkin, daughter of Samuel Dun-kin, on September, 1675. They had five children, the oldest being a William Lyon. We also find that John Lyon, son of the first William, also had a son William.

In researching the genealogy of Simeon Lyon, we find his father was a William Lyon. Our records for this William are rather incomplete but we were able to supply some information from a report on the Lyon family made by Charlotte (Lyon) (Durga) Stott at an early reunion of the Hillsdale County Lyon family in 1902 at Baw Beese Lake in Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Simeon Lyon's father, William Lyon, was born about 1770 (or earlier since his second child was born in 1795) in Dedham, Massachusetts (his third son Simeon was listed as born in 1797 in Dedham on his death record). Charlotte (Lyon) Stott reported he might have been born in Vermont but she knew he lived in Vermont as a young man. She also stated he was probably the son of a William Lyon as "there was a William in every generation we know of."

She also said some claimed her Grandfather William was Irish and others claimed he was Scotch. He could have been Scotch-Irish. Around 1792, he married Betsey (last name unknown), of Dutch descent, and they had eight children: William, David, Simeon, Alexander, Elsie, Martha, Jane, and Amasa. Charlotte (Lyon) (Durga) Stott said she had seen her Grandfather William Lyon just once when she was a small child, about the time her sister Clarissa Lyon died at age six. Grandfather William Lyon died in Ohio, the place and date were unknown to Charlotte.

William Lyon, oldest son of William and Betsey Lyon and oldest brother of Simeon, was born in Vermont or Dedham, date unknown [1793?]. He lived and died in Ohio, place and date unknown. [Perhaps he lived in Denmark, Ashtabula County, Ohio, where Philetus Taylor, brother of Lillie Diadamia Taylor (Simeon's wife) lived. —Nellie (Hitchcock) Hamby.] All traces of this family had been lost.

David Lyon, William's second son and second oldest brother of Simeon, was born in Vermont [or Dedham] in 1795. He married Caroline Blakeslee, of Seneca, New York, in 1827. In their early married life they moved to Lyndon, Illinois. They celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary in 1877. They had eleven children. He died in 1879 in Lyndon, Illinois, and was survived by one daughter, Mrs. M. E. Rentelster, of Lowell, Michigan, a long-time invalid.

Simeon Lyon, William's third son, was born in Dedham, Massachusetts, in January, 1797. Charlotte (Lyon) (Durga) Stott, his daughter, reported in her history he was born in Vermont but his death record at Hillsdale, Michigan, stated his birthplace as Dedham. The 1860 Adams Township census and the Hillsdale County History of 1879 verified Dedham, Massachusetts. He married Lillie Diadamia Taylor on February 1, 1821, and moved to Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, in 1843. They had eight children. Simeon died June 15, 1877, and Diadamia died March 18, 1891. (See Chapter I for Simeon Lyon for more details.)

Alexander Lyon, William's fourth son, was unknown to Charlotte (Lyon) (Durga) Stott. His birth, death, and other vital statistics were lost.

Elsie Lyon's birth date was unknown. She was William Lyon's oldest daughter. She married Carlton Fuller of Pennsylvania. He was a Methodist minister. She died in Mount Morris, New York.

Martha Lyon's birth and death dates were unknown. She was William's second oldest daughter. In a report given by Charlotte Stott at the 1903 reunion of the Lyon family at the home of Ben Lamb, Martha was said to have married James Markham. They had three children: Henry, Mary, and one whose name was unknown. Henry married and lived in Rochester, New York. Mary was unmarried and lived with her brother Henry. By 1903 all had passed away.

Jane Lyon's birth and death dates were unknown. She was William's youngest daughter. She married George Packard. They had three children: Lewis, Anna, and Cynthia. In 1843 they were all living in Genesee County, New York.

Amasa Lyon, youngest child of William and Betsey Lyon and Simeon's youngest brother, married Polly Dupee. They had a son David who lived in Ohio and served in the Civil War. David enlisted for three years in Battery L as Sergeant on March 20, 1863, at Buchanan, Ohio, at age twenty-three. Thus, his birth date would have been 1840. He was mustered out April 16, 1863, after about a month's service, and died of disease at Knoxville, Tennessee, December 31, 1863. Amasa and Polly moved to Michigan and died in Van Buren County, Michigan.

As Charlotte (Lyon) (Durga) Stott completed her second report on the Lyon family at the Lyon Reunion held June 24, 1903, she stated, "The last of the nearest relatives are John Pepper, 81, David Taylor, 76, Charlotte Stott, 74, John Taylor, 70, and William Lyon, of Traverse City, Michigan." She ended her review of the family history with the following poem which she herself composed:

Sometimes Think of Me

When the friends we love from us sever,
The parting is sadness and pain
For we feel it may be forever
That we may never meet them again.
A clasp of the hand, a tearful eye
And our lips spell the heartfelt word "Goodbye"
May heaven watch over you wherever you may be
And sometimes think of me.
When at last on our pillows we are lying
And distant grows all that annoys
There is little we need fear in dying,
Though we part from all earthly joys.
We wish but remembrance with scarcely a sigh
We breathe our last faltering words "Goodbye"
May heaven watch over you wherever you may be
And sometimes think of me.

THE SO-CALLED LYON REUNION—1885

The above picture has been thought of as the first Lyon reunion. But it really was a combined Lamb and Lyon reunion. The writer dares assume that since Amelia (Lyon) Lamb and Ben Lamb lived half way between Henry Lyon and George Lamb, they probably inspired this Lamb-Lyon reunion. We know of no one who ever heard of another Lamb-Lyon reunion.

The Lamb family started their annual reunion soon afterwards and held it annually at Devils Lake, Michigan, for many years. We have found no one who knows anything about another Lyon reunion for some years. The story is told that Henry Lyon's granddaughters, Bertha and Iva Lamb, Lottie and Myrtie Jackson, and Arvilla Church started the real Lyon reunion in 1902, and there has never been a year missed since they started it.

Simeon Lyon and Lillie Diadamia (Taylor) Lyon

Chapter I

SIMEON LYON

Simeon Lyon, the third of William and Elizabeth (Betsey) Lyon's eight children, was born January, 1797, in Dedham, Massachusetts. He came to Grove Township, Allegany [Alleghany] County, New York, in 1819. He died after a short illness in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, on June 15, 1877, and was buried in Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Simeon married Lillie Diadamia Taylor on February 1, 1821. She was born in Rensselearville, Albany County, New York, on October 13, 1804, the ninth of the twelve children of William and Clarissa Taylor. (Lillie) Diadamia died March 14, 1891, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan. She was buried beside Simeon in Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

They had eight children—two died in infancy and a daughter Clarissa died at six years of age. Their other children were:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
Henry	February 24, 1822	1. April 21, 1853 2. Date unknown	December 7, 1890
Charlotte True	March 7, 1829	1. September 22, 1844 2. February 22, 1872	June 3, 1913
Hiram	January 22, 1831	December 22, 1858	September 2, 1894
Phebe	August 20, 1833	April 24, 1853	February 16, 1895
William	December 19, 1836	1. December 24, 1857 2. March 4, 1893	August 7, 1906

Simeon's wife Diadamia Taylor was the daughter of William and Clarissa Taylor of Rensselaerville, Albany County, New York. Her ancestors were Scotch or Scotch-Irish. Taylor was a common English name, and the Scotch branch of the Taylor family had its origin in Argyle, Scotland. After living there for many generations, they left Scotland in 1620 for religious reasons and settled in the north of Ireland. The so-called Scotch-Irish Taylor family of New Scotland, Albany County, New York, descended from this branch. William Taylor, Diadamia's father, was an early settler of Rensselaerville which was formed in 1790.

William Taylor died when his family was young leaving his wife to care for eleven children. She passed away soon after his death leaving the children orphaned according to a great-granddaughter Lena Giddings. They were cared for in different homes, and Diadamia was the only one who had a chance for an education. When she was twelve years old, she taught school. At fifteen she went to live with her sister Ruth (Taylor) Root (Mrs. Joseph) of Grove (Hunts Hollow) Township, Allegany [Alleghany] County, in the valley of the Genesee River.

Simeon Lyon came to Grove in 1819 and married Diadamia there in 1821. The Taylor and Lyon families appeared to have been acquainted, for Diadamia was accustomed to visiting the Lyons in Vermont.*

In 1827 they moved from Grove Township, Allegany [Alleghany] County, to Castile, now in Wyoming County, New York. There they remained until September 30, 1843, when they moved with their family to Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Before coming to Michigan, Simeon owned a "beat" on the Erie Canal. Ownership of a "beat" meant the ownership of the right to use a team of horses to pull boats up the Erie Canal along a certain stretch of the canal. He was also a blacksmith by trade and owned a blacksmith shop which he sold to obtain capital to buy land in Michigan. His land was described as follows:

> Adams Township on line between Adams and Wheatland Townships. In 1843—Section 24—Adams Township—100 acres bought from a man who purchased it from the government. Also 53 acres—Section 19, Wheatland Township [just across the road from the 100 acres].

The land was heavily wooded and had to be cleared. Henry helped his father in the clearing, and Simeon gave his son 60 acres of timbered land, bordering the 100 acres on the west.

Simeon continued his blacksmith trade and also had many kilns to make lime. In 1876 he lost an arm which was crushed under a wagon wheel just a year before he died.

Simeon built a house for his family on the 100 acres. The lumber

*Bennington area of Clinton and Washington County which had been formed from Albany County was ceded to Vermont in 1790. The line was finally settled in 1812.

BEFORE

This is the old house that B. F. Lamb's great-grandfather Simeon Lyon built about 140 years ago, as it was before B. F. started to rebuild it during his vacations for his summer home on the farm.

Below is the picture of the same house after rebuilding. The same studding, beams, and rafters are in the new structure as were in the old.

4x4's—studding of white wood

Sills, plates, all Black Walnut—as good now as 140 years ago.

AFTER

came off the farm. When his great-grandson, Burley F. Lamb, rebuilt the house in the 1930s, he found the eave troughs were long black walnut beams, hollowed out for the water to run in.

All beams in the house were black walnut as hard then as when the house was built. The studding were 4 x 4 white wood (soft wood) in as fine condition as when the house was built. They are still in the present house.

Simeon made his own nails for the house in his own blacksmith shop. Burley still has samples of the nails used to fasten the black walnut eave troughs to the house.

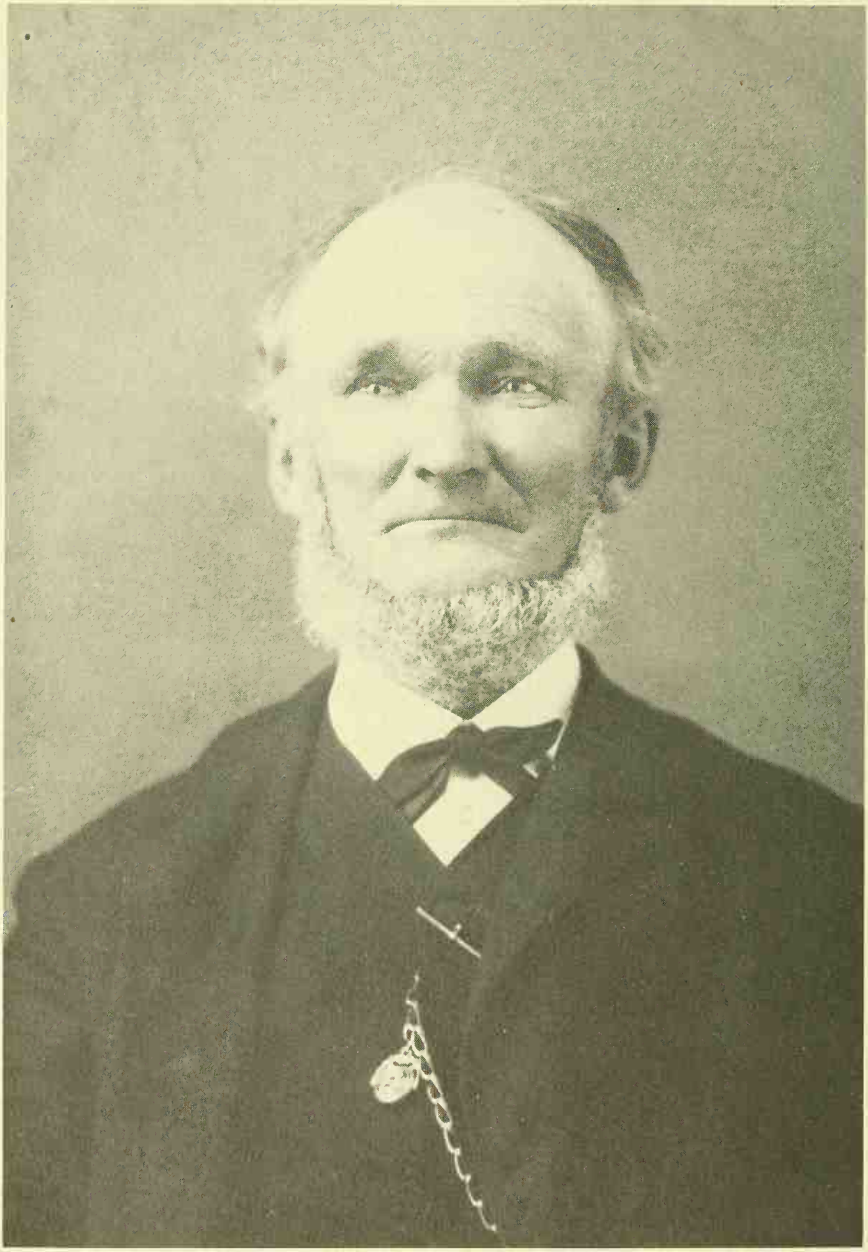
Simeon's son Hiram at the age of twenty-three went to Chicago where he bought 80 acres of land on the site of the present-day city. His folks offered him 80 acres of land if he would come home to Adams Township. Hiram sold out and returned home to Michigan.

The grandchildren described Simeon as a small man with chin whiskers. He was a witty, jolly, easy going, good-natured man who had many friends. He amused himself by teaching an old white horse to do tricks. Diadamia knit the driving lines of different colors for his trained horse. It was also said that Simeon was a strong Democrat.

The grandchildren described Diadamia as a woman with sharp, black eyes which were transmitted to her descendants. She was known as a shrewd, smart, and energetic woman—thrifty but generous. She had a rule concerning the money received from the sale of butter, eggs, or dried fruit. At least half of the money was brought home for savings. As these savings accumulated, she divided the money into five equal portions each of which would be wrapped in a bit of brown paper. Diadamia would then invite her five children to dinner, and each one would find a packet under his dinner plate. On one occasion she divided $1,000 which was a great deal of money in those times.

Diadamia's health failed after Simeon passed away. She left the farm which she and her husband had settled and cleared, and where she had lived for forty-two years, to live with her two daughters, Phebe and Charlotte. Her last three years were spent with Charlotte, and she was blind at the time of her death. She was survived by four children and a sister Emeline Taylor Knapp, of Somerset, who was eighty-four and the last member of the Taylor family of thirteen children.

Diadamia (Taylor) Lyon was one of the early settlers of Hillsdale County and a pioneer wife and mother. She came to live in the wilds of a new country, and although deprived of many of the comforts and advantages of life, she was always ready and willing to lend a helping hand to assist the poor, distressed, and afflicted as long as her health permitted—a truly consistent Christian woman.



Henry Lyon

Chapter II

HENRY LYON FAMILY

Henry Lyon (Simeon[1]), son of Simeon and (Lillie) Diadamia (Taylor) Lyon, was born in Grove Township, Allegany [Alleghany] County, New York, on February 24, 1822.

He died in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, on December 7, 1890, at the age of sixty-eight and was buried in Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Henry married Fanny Elizabeth Hicks, daughter of Bradstreet S. Hicks of New York, on April 21, 1853. They were married by the Reverend Mr. Roswell Parker, a Methodist minister, in the presence of J. B. Donolly and William Dawley in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan. Henry was thirty-one years old and Fanny was twenty-three.

Fanny E. Hicks was born November 3, 1831, in New York. She died March 30, 1883, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, and was buried in Pease Cemetery in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan. She had been ill with "dropsy."

Their eleven children were:

The six children who died in infancy and early childhood were buried in Pease Cemetery beside their parents.

Henry Lyon married a second time after Fanny died. His second wife was formerly Miss Ida M. Sober, of Ypsilanti.

Henry Lyon's parents were of Scotch and Irish descent. When he was five years old he moved with his parents from Grove Township, Allegany [Alleghany] County, to Wyoming County, New York. He remembered very little of Grove except for one incident. Slavery was tolerated there in the 1820s, and in the latter part of the twenties, he remembered the severe punishment of his uncle's Negro slave for stealing maple sugar.

Henry was educated in the district schools of Wyoming County where he lived until age twenty-one. He came to Michigan in the fall of 1843 with his father who purchased 153 acres of land which he helped to clear.

A few years later his father gave him 60 acres of heavily timbered land adjoining his own 100 acres on the west, which Henry started at once to improve. Through hard work and industry he added to his first 60 acres so that he owned a valuable farm of 480 acres, 360 acres in section 24, Adams Township, and 120 acres in section 13, with magnificent buildings and modern appliances and conveniences. This farm was the best improved in Hillsdale County and most extensive in Adams Township.

When Henry built the big brick house which was two high stories tall, his son George, then two or three years old, climbed the ladder clear to the roof and scared the whole family. They did succeed in getting him down unharmed.

Henry also built two very large barns and two small barns. One of the big barns was sold many years afterward and moved to the farm adjoining his 60 acres on the south and facing the other road. The other big barn burned down just a few years ago. The two small buildings were moved by Ben Lamb to his farm a half mile east across the road while he owned the 60 acres given to Henry by his father.

Henry Lyon was interested in fine blooded stock and owned twenty-one horses, two of which were of English shire or English draft stallions, imported, and pedigreed, Fils du John and Eddystone. His herd of fifty cows was of Shorthorn breed, the bull being registered as "29th Duke of Hillsdale." He also stocked Poland-China hogs. In the 1860s he started a flock of Merino sheep. Since that time he was known to have sold a larger amount of wool than any other man in Adams Township, selling annually from 1,000 to 3,000 pounds of wool.

Henry Lyon came to his death December 7, 1890, gored by a savage bull who attacked and felled him as he was crossing a field on his farm. The enraged animal tossed and worried his victim, dragged him for 15 rods, until the bull tired of the sport. Henry was found by his son-in-law about an hour after the attack. He roused enough to say, "The bull has done me up." Dr. Noyes who was called to attend him found that Henry had suffered five broken ribs, a broken arm, and severe cuts and bruises. He died shortly afterward, a victim of an infuriated bull—one of the fine blooded stock in which he was so interested.

Henry Lyon was a man of ability and influence in his community, always kept pace with the times, and was especially interested in the education of youth. He was a strong Democrat.

LORAINA LIVERA (LYON) JACKSON

Loraina Livera Lyon (Henry,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Henry and Fanny E. (Hicks) Lyon, was born April 21, 1860, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

She died in Jackson, Michigan, on March 23, 1923, and was buried in the Dibble Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan. She suffered from Brights disease.

She married George Washington Jackson in November —, 1879. He was born in Addison, Lenawee County, Michigan, on September 18, 1855. He was the son of Andrew L. and Sarah J. (Morey) Jackson.

Their children were:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
Lottie Livera	April 8, 1882	1. December 24, 1902 2. Date unknown 3. Date unknown 4. June 21, 1928	March 27, 1963
Myrtle Belle	June 27, 1883	December 25, 1904	November 19, 1954
Arthur Manning	March 29, 1887	December 16, 1908	April __, 1926

At the time of Loraina's death she and George had lived some thirty-five years in Jackson, Michigan. In 1913, at age fifty-eight, George was struck by a Michigan Central switch engine at a crossing while he was on his way to work. He was dragged a considerable distance, and his left leg was so badly crushed it had to be amputated just below the knee. He also sustained severe scalp wounds and other cuts and bruises.

After Loraina's death, George W. Jackson married Lottie (Crisp) Atkinson on June 1, 1927. They had no children. He died September 3, 1948, in Jackson, Michigan, and was buried in the Dibble Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Benjamin Soule Lamb

Amelia M. (Lyon) Lamb

AMELIA M. (LYON) LAMB

Amelia M. Lyon (Henry,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Henry and Fanny E. (Hicks) Lyon, was born March 23, 1862, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

She died in Pittsford Village, Hillsdale County, Michigan, on May 24, 1924, and was buried in Church's Corners Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Amelia M. Lyon married Benjamin Soule Lamb on March 27, 1881, at Rollin, Michigan. He was born in Rollin, Lenawee County, Michigan, on October 14, 1855, the son of George Russel and Matilda (Soule) Lamb. Their eight children, all born in Wheatland and Adams townships on the Wheatland and Adams town line, are:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
Bertha Matilda	May 18, 1883	March 19, 1914	————
Iva Fanny	February 14, 1885	November 24, 1903	January 12, 1908

George Alfred	October 12, 1890	August 18, 1917	December 21, 1970
Howard Earl	December 6, 1892	November 19, 1925	April 1, 1950
Maude Mae	July 29, 1894	November 30, 1916	————
Hiram Roswel	June 10, 1899	————	March 10, 1900
Ralph Erwin	May 10, 1902	June 6, 1925	September 25, 1963

Ben Lamb, as he was known, moved from Rollin when nine years old and lived the rest of his life in Hillsdale County, Adams and Wheatland townships, except for one year when he lived in Pittsford Village. He was very active in Grange work as was his wife, Amelia. After her death in 1924, he married her sister Ida

May (Lyon) Church in May, 1928. Ben died of heart disease on April 22, 1931, in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, and was buried in Church's Corners Cemetery, Wheatland Township.

Benjamin S. Lamb was a self-educated man who never had an opportunity to finish the third grade in the country school. He read much, however, and was both intelligent and wise.

He paid for his first 80-acre farm with "three-cent" hogs and "fifteen-cent" corn. While he started with nothing, at the time his good wife, Amelia, passed away they owned over 400 acres of land—all paid for and very, very much improved.

His oldest son, Burley F. Lamb, who graduated from college and held fellowships in economics, political science, and sociology for three graduate student years, says his father was the best authority on economics and political science of any man he knew, including the authors of the books used in the university graduate courses.

Amelia Lyon Lamb lived in Adams Township at the place of her birth until her marriage to Ben Lamb. Until October, 1923, when they moved to Pittsford, she and Ben with their family lived within a mile and a half of her birthplace. Ben was her constant companion during their forty-three years of married life.

Amelia was a good mother and a hard worker, with eight children, seven of whom lived to maturity. Besides her housework she raised turkeys for money to buy cloth to make the clothing for her children. She also raised chickens for eating and for eggs to be exchanged for a few staple groceries such as sugar, salt, spices, etc. She made her own soap, canned fruit for the whole family, as well as preserving meats after the stock had been butchered on the farm—enough meat to last a good part of the year. She did all this without any of the modern conveniences that women have today.

Amelia Lyon Lamb exemplified the pioneer wife and mother living in the country when the necessary isolation of the farm compelled her to be all to her family—nurse, physician, cook, gardener, canner, housekeeper, laundress, seamstress, poultryman, and teacher. She was unstintingly devoted to the welfare of her large family.

She was also devoted to her fellowman and worked for their common welfare through the Grange. She was a member of the Wheatland Grange at Church's Corners for forty-two years. For more than fifteen years she never missed a session of the Hillsdale County Pomona Grange of which Ben was Master for about eighteen years.

Bertha Matilda (Lamb) Wells, Howard DeWitt Wells

BERTHA MATILDA (LAMB) WELLS

Bertha Matilda Lamb (Amelia,[3] Henry,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Benjamin S. and Amelia M. (Lyon) Lamb, was born May 18, 1883, in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

She married Howard DeWitt Wells on March 19, 1914, at North Adams, Michigan. He was born in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, on December 20, 1878. Their children are:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
Orlin Ray	January 7, 1919	March 14, 1943	————
Zellia Ione	April 20, 1921	June 10, 1945	————
Ruth Irene	September 7, 1925	August 6, 1954	————

Howard DeWitt Wells was the son of Jasper J. and Alice Lorena (Gowdy) Wells. Howard was one of ten children, all raised to maturity, as fine Christian men and women, with no bad habits.

Howard was first married to Bertha's sister, Iva Fanny Lamb in Adams Township, on November 24, 1903. They had two children, Pauline Eva and Gerald DeWitt. Iva passed away January 12, 1908, in Adams Township.

The Wells home was on the old Henry Lyon farm in Adams

Township and was one mile south and two miles east of North Adams. Howard D. Wells, great-grandson of Roderick Wells and grandson of Abel Wells, was living in the same house where he was born—at the time he passed away on February 24, 1966. He was buried in North Lawn Cemetery, Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

He had lived elsewhere during his earlier years, but about 1908 he bought this same place which had been his grandfather's and great-grandfather's home, one mile south and two miles east of North Adams.

He had always been a farmer. His greatest hobby was raising and owning good draft horses. He raised Percheron registered horses and bought and sold grade colts which he broke to work.

He joined the Methodist Church as a young man.

Bertha M. (Lamb) Wells always attended church and Sunday School whenever it was possible. She joined the Methodist Church in North Adams in the 1940s and has been a member since that time.

Bertha was also active in the Grange which she joined in 1902 and since that time has been a member continuously.

She had lived at home with her parents Benjamin and Amelia Lamb until she was thirty years old. She married her brother-in-law, Howard Wells, after her sister Iva's death, and exchanged her role of aunt for that of mother to her niece and nephew, Pauline and Gerald, respectively. She and Howard had three children. She reared five children and kept house for her family on the farm. She raised chickens which she enjoyed doing, and as a farmer's wife could milk cows by hand, a task few modern women know how to do.

Eight of Gerald and Ruth's children have attended or are attending college—a difficult accomplishment in these days of rising costs and tuition.

Grant D. Wells, their oldest son, attended Michigan State University at East Lansing and received bachelor's and master's degrees in agricultural engineering. He spent two years as a Peace Corps volunteer, working with the farmers in East Pakistan. After his stint with the Peace Corps he traveled for six months in the Holy Land, northern Africa, and Europe. He is now working for a Ph.D. degree.

Dale C. Wells, their third son, enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1967 and spent two years in Italy. He then requested a year's tour of duty in Vietnam where he worked with the village leaders as an adviser. He received the Bronze Star, good conduct medal, and a medal for service in Vietnam. He is now attending Michigan State University.

Rex and Janet are now attending Michigan State University and Joyce (Janet's twin) is attending Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo.

The three married children who all have attended college are listed separately under their own names.

Gerald and Ruth have been busy parents with the rearing of this family. The fact that so many of their children hold college degrees speaks well of their work and determination.

BURLEY FRANK LAMB

Burley Frank Lamb

Marjorie (Coors) Lamb

Burley Frank Lamb (Amelia,[3] Henry,[2] Simeon[1]), son of Benjamin S. and Amelia M. (Lyon) Lamb, was born on May 29, 1886, in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

He married Marjorie Coors on December 29, 1915, in Bellevue, Michigan. She was born in Pentwater, Oceana County, Michigan, on July 11, 1891, to the Reverend Mr. August Henry and Julia Marie (Duttenhofer) Coors. Burley and Marjorie had one son:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
Burjo Lemar	May 24, 1918	November 10, 1945	————

When Burley was eleven, twelve, and thirteen years old, he stayed out of school for three spring terms and one-half of each of three fall terms to run his father's eighty-acre farm because of his father's extended illness. The farm adjoined the farm purchased by his Great-Grandfather Simeon Lyon.

Burley again interrupted his education by remaining out of high school for two years. During this time he cut logs, hauled them to the mill, prepared the lumber, and with the help of his father's brother Milton enlarged the farm house about 200 percent and the barn at least 150 percent; running water was installed in both the house and barn. It was the first farm house in the area known to have running water.

Burley returned to high school. He would drive about five miles to school, through mud and snow if need be, after he had milked twelve cows and had done other farm chores every morning. He completed the work of one and one-half years in his last year in high school, taught three classes in the intermediate department, and still graduated as Valedictorian of his class from North Adams High School.

After graduation he taught school at Mosherville, Michigan, from 1906 to 1909. It was a two-room school and he taught the sixth to the tenth grade inclusive.

In September, 1909, Burley entered Albion College and received his A.B. degree in 1913. In his freshman year he won first place as a debater and was on the Intercollegiate Debating Team as a sophomore, junior, and senior. While he was attending college, Burley was pastor of the Methodist Church in Montgomery, Michigan, from 1910 to 1912.

As a senior in Albion College he was editor of the college paper and also editor of the college annual as a junior. He gave the oration for the class at the commencement exercises in 1913.

In 1914 Burley was awarded a one-year scholarship and a one-year fellowship at the University of Illinois in Urbana for graduate work in economics, political science, and sociology. His fellowship included all tuition as well as cash money sufficient to pay all other expenses. He received his Master of Arts degree from the University of Illinois.

Burley was then awarded a fellowship in economics, political science, and sociology at the University of Pennsylvania in 1915. It was while he was attending the university in Philadelphia that, on December 29, 1915, he married Marjorie Coors whom he had met during the college year 1912–13 at Albion College. It is a well-known adage that behind every great man is an equally great woman.

Marjorie Coors was the daughter of a Methodist minister. This, of course, meant the family moved often wherever sent by the conference. Marjorie was born in Pentwater, Michigan, started school in Clare in 1897, and graduated from Shelby (Michigan)

High School on June 9, 1910, one year later than she would have had she not been ill.

After her graduation from high school Marjorie was employed for two years in the Shelby Herald Printing Company. During this time she also taught piano to beginners since she had studied piano for many years.

On September, 1912, Marjorie entered Albion College in the Conservatory of Music to study piano, voice, art of conducting choirs. She became choir conductor of the Bellevue Methodist Church where her father was pastor. She also taught piano and voice until her marriage to Burley Lamb in 1915. She went with him to Philadelphia where he was in his third year of graduate work. She too attended the University of Pennsylvania to study psychology, sociology, and French.

From October, 1916, through 1917, Burley and Marjorie traveled with the Radcliffe Chautauqua. Burley lectured and managed chautauquas for the Radcliffe Chautauqua Company with headquarters in Washington, D.C. Their territory was through the southern and central states as far west as the Mississippi River. Burley lectured twice in one day to the adults in each town. Marjorie had charge of the morning chautauqua which was the Children's Hour. Marjorie conducted story hours for the children, led the singing, and directed the games. She was also a piano accompanist for a contralto soloist as well as for other artists who were on the programs.

On January, 1918, Burley and Marjorie left the Radcliffe Chautauqua Company and Burley took a position in Portsmouth, Ohio, where he worked with the District Superintendent of the Methodist Church. During 1918 Lamb became an ordained Methodist minister. Also in May, 1918, their son Burjo was born in Portsmouth.

Burley Lamb started a unique program which he originated and called "Community Evangelism." For eight to ten nights he spoke in some church of a small community, not too far from Portsmouth, Ohio, and lectured on the relationship of the church program to community activities. This program attracted nationwide attention, and church leaders from New York City came to investigate the possibilities of this program. These leaders finally persuaded Burley F. Lamb to take over the state of Ohio for the Town and Country surveys for the Interchurch World Movement. In May, 1919, the Lambs moved to Columbus, Ohio.

When the Interchurch World Movement collapsed a year later in 1919, Lamb had finished surveys for forty-four counties—one-half of Ohio. The largest number of county surveys finished in any other state was five for Pennsylvania. Twenty other states, each with its full-time executive, tried to go forward with the movement, but Lamb was the only man to succeed. He became Executive Director for the Ohio Council of Churches and finished the survey of the other forty-four counties of Ohio.

As Executive Director for the Ohio Council of Churches, B. F. Lamb did most of the organizational work and made Ohio the strongest, most vigorous Council of Churches in the nation, a position it still holds today. Lamb was the Executive Director for thirty-five years, and later he became the President of The Temple of Good Will, Inc., the subsidiary corporation of the Ohio Council of Churches. He held this position for twelve years making the total of forty-seven years of service for the Council. He is now Executive Director Emeritus of the Ohio Council of Churches and Executive President Emeritus of the Interchurch Center, formerly The Temple of Good Will, Inc.

Burley F. Lamb was awarded the D.D. degree by Heidelberg College in Tiffin, Ohio, and the LL.D. degree by Albion College in Albion, Michigan, his alma mater. He was listed in Who's Who in America, from 1932 to 1966, and in Who's Who in the Methodist Church.

A biography of Dr. Lamb, together with the history of the Ohio Council of Churches, entitled B. F. Lamb Ecumenical Pioneer, has been written by Dr. Ross W. Sanderson, of Boston, Massachusetts. Dr. Sanderson described the many pioneering projects started by B. F. Lamb during his forty-seven years with the Council of Churches, including the first State Pastors Convention; the First Principles of Comity for Town and Country Churches; the First Interdenominational Communion Service; the First Prince of Peace Contest; the First State Council of Churches to settle disputes among churches.*

The Lambs have lived in Columbus, Ohio, for fifty-three years. They joined the Indianola Methodist Church and were members for forty-nine years. Marjorie taught Sunday school classes and was active in the women's organizations. She was president of the Mothers' Council, chairman of the Church Circle, and a member of many committees over the years.

Marjorie was also active in civic organizations. She was a member and president of the Mothers' Study Club. As president, she spoke on the radio network at Ohio State University to enlighten the public of the work of the club.

For the past three years Burley and Marjorie have been members of the Riverside United Methodist Church. Marjorie is still active as a member of a church circle and works in it.

After retirement at eighty years of age, Burley F. Lamb has been still active, serving on the Board of Trustees of four state and national organizations. He also has been assembling and collecting material for this book entitled Who's Who in the Lyon Family.

Burjo has also been active in PTA—its treasurer for three terms, its auditor for two terms, and its legislator for one term. He too was awarded the PTA Honorary Life Member Award. Burjo and Virginia both received the Civic Award for Outstanding Services to their community, the only couple to have both received this award.

He has served as president of the Community Club which sponsors swimming teams for the children of the community; has served as manager, field manager, and president of the Local Little League Baseball as well as being a member of its official board. Burjo and Virginia bowl together in a bowling league in which they have won various trophies.

After the second change the business became automobiles rather than wagons and buggies.

Austin Eyer passed away in the summer of 1938 in the very house he bought when the family came to Paullina. Harriet Jane (known as Janie) passed away suddenly while entering the Opera House in Paullina to attend a Chautauqua on December 16, 1913. She was celebrating the gift of a new winter coat from her sons. Both she and her husband were buried in the Prairie View Cemetery, Paullina, O'Brien County, Iowa.

Carrol Emmet Eyer, Althea (Tjossem) Eyer

Iowa, in 1908. His Uncle George Wilbur Lyon was living in Paullina at that time and had a photography business. Carrol worked with his father as a young man in garage work where he learned the trade.

After he was married, he farmed for several years in O'Brien County, Iowa. In the spring of 1933 he moved back to Paullina where he started a garage business for himself. In 1937 he became the caretaker of the Prairie View Cemetery in Paullina which job he held until his death on July 23, 1960. He died in Cherokee, Cherokee County, Iowa, and his wife Althea died March 30, 1969, in the same town. They were both buried at Prairie View Cemetery, Paullina, Iowa.

Carrol was very interested in band music and was a member of the Paullina Municipal Band for many years. He joined the band shortly after his arrival in Paullina; his instrument was the tuba.

An amusing story told on Carrol was his experience with a cider barrel. When a young lad, he went to the cellar to sample his father's cider. This was off limits for his brother and him, because their father feared they couldn't turn off the spigot of the barrel. His father caught him when he came home from the buggy shop, because Carrol had to follow the wall to fetch his father an object which was across the room. He never went near the cider barrel again.

In 1965 Cathryn returned to Paullina to be with her mother who by then was blind. At present she is teaching third grade in Paullina.

Cathryn played tuba in both her high school and college bands, receiving an "excellent" rating in the National Music Contest in 1941. This pleased her father very much as he too was a tuba player.

Her other hobbies in addition to her music are art, photography, sewing, woodworking, and cooking. She is interested in all handicrafts. She is living in the same house her grandparents came to when they moved to Paullina in 1908 from Michigan.

Harold	September 23, 1900	————	April 28, 1902

George Lyon was a photographer by profession. He left Michigan to travel west as a photographer artist. He married Cora in Nebraska, and he and his wife settled in Iowa where Velma and Harold were born. He set up a photography business in Paullina, Iowa, where his sister and brother-in-law, Harriet Jane (Lyon) and Austin Emmet Eyer moved in 1908. Cora and Harriet Jane enjoyed posing for George.

George and Cora were saddened by the accidental death of their little boy Harold. He fell into a rainbarrel while playing on the porch of their home and drowned. Velma was just four years old, and the memory of the doctors working over her little brother in an effort to save his life was indelibly impressed in her mind.

In March, 1912, George and his family moved to Corning, California. He was an active member of the Masonic order, a 32nd degree Mason, a Shriner, and Worthy Patron of the Eastern Star. He was also a member of the American Yeoman.

George was also an active church member and an elder of the Presbyterian Church. His was an exemplary life, and he was held in high esteem by the entire community. He was active in its social, civil, and commercial activities. He was full of fun, loved life, his family, and friends. "He never hurt a living soul" was the accolade of his daughter Velma.

He died very suddenly of pneumonia after an illness of five days. Practically all the citizens of Corning turned out at his funeral to mourn their loss—a fitting tribute to the man.

VELMA GLADYS (LYON) (HOHENTHAL) HENNESSY

Velma Gladys Lyon (George,[3] Henry,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of George W. and Cora E. (Countryman) Lyon, was born November 1, 1898, in Pomeroy, Calhoun County, Iowa.

Velma married William Dalton Hohenthal on April 28, 1918, at Fortress Monroe, Virginia. Colonel Hohenthal, son of Charles Trangott and Mary Josephine (Dalton) Hohenthal, was born in Bishop, Inyo County, California, on June 17, 1895. He died in San Francisco, California, on February 8, 1949, and was buried in the National Cemetery, Presidio, San Francisco, California. They lived in Kensington (Berkeley), Contra Costa, California, at the time, but had lived all over the world since Velma's husband was an Army officer. They had three children:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
William Dalton, Jr.	March 13, 1919	November 27, 1958	————
Velma Helen	May 25, 1934	————	May 26, 1934
Alan Theodore	June 7, 1936	May 26, 1958	————

Velma Lyon attended grammar school in Paullina, Iowa, until her family moved to Corning, California, and Velma attended Corning High School. She entered the University of California in 1916. She was a member of Kappa Delta sorority. Languages, ballet, and piano were her interests. She liked sports, especially tennis, swimming, and golf. Velma left college in her sophomore year to marry Lt. William D. Hohenthal who at that time was stationed at Fortress Monroe, Virginia.

Since the United States was involved in World War I at the time, Velma returned to Corning, California, when she was expecting her first baby. Her husband, of course, had been ordered into active duty. He was ordered to Ft. Scott, Presidio, San Francisco, one week after their first son was born. As an Army wife for thirty-two years, Velma lived in various quarters and rented civilian houses—from the ridiculous to the sublime.

Colonel William Dalton Hohenthal

From 1932 to 1934 Velma and Bill lived in a place in Fortress Monroe, Virginia, which had been built before the Civil War. It had very high ceilings, two large living rooms, and seven fireplaces. The old colored maid insisted on lighting the bedroom fireplace early every morning so the room would be "cozy for Captain Bill and Miss Velma" when they arose.

Twice they lived in cantonment barracks. One had no bathroom but a "Chic Sales." "Rain, snow, or shine, out we went even to take a shower." In the second barracks the kitchen faced north, and when there was a "northeaster," the gals had to wear galoshes in the kitchen as the rain would pour in under the door. The girls also stoked soft-coal ranges and two "pot-bellied" stoves to keep warm. However, Army wives took it all in stride.

After promotions came, Velma and Bill served in Honolulu, Corregidor, Philippines, with trips to China and Japan. Then came four years with the U. S. Embassy in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, with trips throughout South America. It was in 1934, on May 25, that Velma gave birth to Velma Helen at sea on a British boat. The baby girl died and was buried at the head of Botofogo Bay, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Their second son Alan was born in Rio de Janeiro in 1936.

They had a four-month leave in Europe; nine-month duty at Command and General Staff School, Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas; duty at the U. S. Embassy in Berlin, Germany.

In the summer of 1941 the U. S. State Department ordered Army families—Velma and Alan—back to the states as the British were bombing Berlin regularly. How they hated moonlit nights. They went to Berkeley, California, but in May, 1942, Velma drove to New York City to meet the "Drottningholm" which was returning internees, including husband Bill. All Embassy personnel had been interned from December 7, 1941 (Pearl Harbor Day), which, of course, meant husband Bill. A few weeks later he was ordered back to Europe.

In March, 1946, Velma's husband was flown home and was found to have cancer. He was in Walter Reed Army Hospital until August, 1948, when he was flown to Letterman Hospital in San Francisco where he died February, 1949. From 1942 to 1948 Velma had worked as a Red Cross Nurses' Aide.

After Bill's death Velma worked as Medical Secretary to the Chief of Radiology in Veterans Administration Hospital in Oakland, California. In 1962 she retired and moved to Washington, D.C., where she bought an apartment in the Army Distaff Hall, a residence for Army widows. She also worked as a Gray Lady.

In 1968 Velma married retired Colonel Harold P. Hennessy, and they lived in Falls Church, Virginia. "Life looked lovely for us," said Velma, but unfortunately Harold died suddenly of a heart attack after just ten months of wedded happiness. Velma returned to Washington, D.C., and the Army Distaff Hall.

Both of Velma's husbands were Army career men and long-time friends. They were Catholics and she was Presbyterian. However, there was never the slightest friction as to church affiliation, and they went to both churches. Velma as an Army wife says, "Why can't the rest of the world 'give and take'?"

In 1969–70 he took a leave of absence to the University of Alaska at Fairbanks. However, he and his family are happy to be back at San Francisco State College in spite of all the student riots and disruptions of the recent past.

William has been a Boy Scout and while in Rio he joined the British Scouts. He completed the tests and became a "King's Scout" which is equal in rank to our Eagle Scout.

He has been active in church work and is a lay reader in the Episcopal Church.

Chapter III

CHARLOTTE TRUE (LYON) (DURGA) STOTT FAMILY

Charlotte True Lyon (Simeon[1]), daughter of Simeon and (Lillie) Diadamia (Taylor) Lyon, was born on March 7, 1829, at Castile, Wyoming County, New York.

She died at her home on Monroe Street in North Adams, Hillsdale County, Michigan, on June 3, 1913, from a heart attack. She was buried in the Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Charlotte True Lyon came to Michigan in 1843 from New York with her parents and family at the age of fourteen. They located in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, on Section 24, on a 153-acre farm. Her parents lived there during the remainder of their lives. Since then the farm has been owned by Ben Lamb and his son Burley.

On September 22, 1844, Charlotte married Levi Harrison Durga. Her marriage was witnessed by Margaret Dawley and Charlotte's father, Simeon Lyon, in the Simeon Lyon home. Charlotte was just fifteen years old and Levi Durga was twenty-five. Their children were:

Ella Jane	June 30, 1864	November 29, 1883	November 19, 1954

Levi Harrison Durga was born January 18, 1819, in New York state to Joseph and Electa (Harrington) Durga. Levi Durga came to Michigan with David K. Chase before the spring of 1840 to Jefferson Township, Hillsdale County. Levi's parents came to Michigan too as they were listed in the 1850 Adams Township census. Joseph was age fifty, born in Canada, and Electa was age fifty-four, born in New York. Levi had five brothers and sisters: Riley, Erastus, Jack, Irene, and Benjamin.

Charlotte and Levi Durga first lived in and owned the Henry Porter farm, one mile west of Hoxie, where Electa and Henry were born. They traded this land for land near Lyndon, Whiteside County, Illinois. Charlotte had an Uncle David Lyon, brother of Simeon, living there. The young couple with their children set out for Lyndon in a covered wagon. When they arrived at Lyndon, they found the land was a lake. They returned to Michigan and made the owner give them back their place near Hoxie. They sold this farm and bought the farm one-half mile west of Charlotte's parents in Section 13. Charlotte's father, Simeon Lyon, gave them 40 acres across the road in Section 24, Adams Township. Charlotte lived on this farm until she moved to North Adams in 1895.

Levi H. Durga caught typhoid fever while delivering horses to the troops in the Civil War. The whole family was ill at the same time with typhoid fever, and Levi died on August 10, 1864, in Adams Township. At the time his youngest child, Ella Jane, was just six weeks old. Charlotte was left with a large family to manage. Levi's parents were living at the time on the farm on Mauck Road which later belonged to Ella Jane (Durga) and Charles Hitchcock. Electa and Joseph Durga eventually moved from this farm to Traverse City. Charlotte lived in the log house until Ella Jane was five years old.

On February 22, 1872, eight years after Levi Durga's death, Charlotte (Lyon) Durga married George Washington Stott, the son of Truman and Emeline (Truman) Stott. George Stott was born in Argyle, Washington County, New York, on February 22, 1824. He had been married to Laura Wakefield in 1851 in Pennsylvania. Laura and Levi Durga, Charlotte's first husband, were cousins as their mothers, Laura and Electa Harrington, respectively, were sisters.

Laura and George Stott came to Michigan in 1859, and they had one daughter Sylvia, who died at eighteen years of age, and two sons, Wyman Hollis and David R. Stott. Laura Stott died March, 1871 (1870?). George Stott died August 23, 1905, at age eighty-one. He had been a good Christian man, and his large family of stepchildren remembered him kindly as a good father. He was buried in Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, beside his first wife.

After George's death Charlotte lived alone in North Adams. She had lived in Adams Township about seventy years until she moved about 1895 to her home on Monroe Street. She was always known to be active and ambitious. Her yard was always full of flowers. Her hobby was baking salt-rising bread which she sold and also gave to friends. Salt-rising bread is still a favorite of the family—even down to the generation of her great-grandson Ivan Parker.

Charlotte exemplified the pioneer wife and mother who had to be all things to her family. She was among the early settlers of Michigan and had to endure many hardships and dangers. Indians roamed the territory; wolves and bears were troublesome; provisions and clothing were scarce; the land had to be cleared because it was heavily timbered. Charlotte was just fifteen when she was married, and she was widowed with a family of ten children at age thirty-five. She cared for her family after her husband's death for eight years before she married a second time. Her oldest boy ran away to enlist in Battery G as a drummer. He was just thirteen and served in the Civil War for four years. He was mustered out in 1865 at age seventeen. Many were the trials of this pioneer mother. Her favorite song was "Have Courage, My Boy." She wrote in between the lines of the song "Favorite of Riley Durga," who was her youngest son. Besides her many talents she was a poet as is shown in the poem she composed for the Lyon Reunion of 1903, entitled "Sometimes Think of Me" and cited on page xv.

ELECTA DIADAMIA (DURGA) NOKES

Electa Diadamia Durga (Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Charlotte T. (Lyon) and Levi H. Durga, was born October 27, 1846, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

She died in Addison, Lenawee County, Michigan, on April 26, 1917, and was buried in Evergreen Cemetery (formerly known as Eastman Cemetery) beside her husband in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Electa D. Durga was married to George Francis Nokes on September 1, 1867, in Wheatland Township, by Reverend S. P. Tompkins. George Francis Nokes, son of George Francis and Rebecca (Reeves) Nokes, was born in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, on January 26, 1839. He died March 8, 1915, in Wheatland Township, on the farm where he was born. He was buried in Evergreen (Eastman) Cemetery, Wheatland Township, about one-half mile west of his old home, where his parents, grandparents, sister, and later his wife were buried.

Howard Francis Nokes, Electa Diadamia (Durga) Nokes, George Francis Nokes

Electa and George Francis, also known as Frank, had one son:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
Howard Francis	March 5, 1870	September 25, 1902	October 6, 1963

Electa D. Nokes was active in "movements" of her time, i.e., woman suffrage and prohibition. Today she would be known as an activist. She was a highly intelligent woman who had strong convictions. She often remarked on the blindness of the public to the cause of evil. She often wrote articles on the harmful effects of alcohol. Her niece, Atta (Hitchcock) Fien, remembers her as a person who had a keen sense of humor and loved a good joke as an escape from the trials of everyday life. She was a shrewd business woman.

Electa was a member of the Free Will Baptist Church in Wheatland (now a barn) and superintendent of its Sunday School for many years. She was active in the Grange movement in Hillsdale County and was a member of the Wheatland Grange. She was president of the Women's Congress of the Hillsdale Fair Association.

Electa is credited by Burley F. Lamb with starting him in his career of public speaking. She encouraged and helped him, through the Grange, to enter the Oratorical Contest held at the Hillsdale County Fair.

Aunt Electa and Uncle Frank are fondly remembered by niece Atta Fien. An old house at the rear of their new home was used to store books, magazines, and postcards which Atta enjoyed browsing through as a child. Electa always had something good to eat and a coffee pot brewing on the wood range. Electa enjoyed entertaining relatives and friends. She gave Atta a book of verses and indicated to Atta one she should memorize:

> "I wrote down my troubles every day,
> And after a few short years,
> When I turned to the heartaches passed away,
> I read them with smiles, not tears."

This little poem, so true to life, is cherished by Atta. After a happy visit with her Aunt Electa and Uncle Frank, Atta recalls she was sad to say good-bye and to leave that happy farm.

Both Electa and her husband were staunch Republicans and active in politics. For a short period they belonged to the Prohibition Party. In 1910 George Nokes was recognized as one of those who had cast his first ballot in 1860 for Abe Lincoln at the fiftieth anniversary of Lincoln's election.

George Nokes was educated in the little schoolhouse on the hill near his parents' farm. He was a great reader and had an excellent memory. According to the history of the county, George F. Nokes was the first white child born in Wheatland Township on the very farm where he grew up, brought his bride, and passed away. He had the patent, signed by Martin Van Buren, for this farm. After his death Electa continued to live on the farm.

Shortly thereafter she suffered a slight stroke which partially paralyzed her. She sold the old home and bought a home in Addison because of her failing health. Within two months she was strickened again, and this time the stroke took her life. She was buried within sight of her old home.

Atta (Hitchcock) Fien has many happy memories of Uncle Thaddy, as she knew him, and Aunt Maria. As a young child she, with her brother Grant and sister Pansy, used to "vacation" during berry season at the W. T. Durga fruit farm at Jerome. They were paid a penny a quart for picking the strawberries. They ate as many as they picked, and it was such a treat. They helped Uncle Thaddy, who went on crutches for a long time, by hitching up his palamino-colored horse to the buggy and loading the crates of berries for him to sell in Jerome. Aunt Maria was a fine cook, and Atta remembers with pleasure her roast chicken and her biscuit strawberry shortcake.

Since going to Oregon she has conducted a Range Survey, collected native plants for the University, taught at the State Range Camp for Boys, at 4-H camps, and church camps. She is a member of the Federated Garden Club and has won a blue ribbon in the State Essay Contest in 1970.

One of her most vivid experiences was a trip with a pet bobcat which she and her husband were keeping for their son, Peter. On this particular trip from Oregon to Arizona and back, Kasan, the bobcat, managed to escape temporarily several times, and spoiled their efforts to sleep with a midnight frolic in their motel. The trip ended happily as they reached home with Kasan still intact.

keys, rifle balls, glass, and other assorted objects he had swallowed over a twenty-four-year period while he traveled with circuses and was billed as a "Human Ostrich."

This was reported at the time by the magazine, Scientific American, which quoted him as saying he had found some glass in a beef stomach and reasoned that if a beef could live after eating such things, he could also. For many years he encountered no problems from his freak diet. But in June of 1908, after suffering severe cramps, he entered the hospital for observation that led to the operation from which he recovered with no lasting ill effects. Later his operation was reported in Ripley's Believe It or Not.

In his later years he made his home in the Soldiers' Home in Hot Springs, South Dakota, except for the summer months when he came back to Michigan. He was a short, slightly built man and very active for his age.

BEVERLY JUNE DOW

Beverly June Dow (Marcia,[4] Alice,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Howard E. and Marcia C. (Pease) Dow, was born on June 3, 1923, in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

She lives in Detroit where she is a cosmetic saleswoman. She is active in the Cosmetics Representatives Club which works to benefit "Leader Dogs for the Blind" at Rochester, Michigan. This club is also known as "The Christmas in January Club," and through various projects has raised and donated over $25,000 for leader dogs.

CHLOE ADELAIDE (DURGA) (WHALEY) WYMAN

Chloe Adelaide Durga (Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), the ninth child of Levi H. and Charlotte T. (Lyon) Durga, was born on April 26, 1862, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Chloe, who was known as Addie, was married twice. Her first husband was Alley A. Whaley who was born near Morenci, Michigan, on February 24, 1859. They were married on February 1, 1880. They had one child, Carl, who was born on November 15, 1889, and lived only one day.

Alley is remembered by his niece, Atta (Hitchcock) Fien, as a fun-loving person, who was a jack-of-all-trades. She recalls that when he cut a youngster's hair, he always finished with a generous application of "Bay Rum" which made the ordeal of a hair cut seem worthwhile. To describe him Atta quotes: "True happiness, if understood, consists alone in doing good."—Somerville.

When Alley was staying nights at Amelia (Lyon) Lamb's as he ran a sawmill for Ben Lamb in the woods on the Simeon Lyon's first 100 acres, he asked Burley, Lamb's young son, to take a message to his wife, Addie, about three miles away. He promised Burley a nickle for the trip. Burley walked about six miles which was a long trip for a boy his age. But Alley forgot about the nickle for three weeks.

Burley thought about it every day but didn't dare mention it to Alley. Finally, Alley said, "Burley, did I pay you that nickle?" The answer was "no." Alley then gave him the nickle and said, "I would not beat a boy out of a nickle, but if I could beat your father out of $1,000, I would do that."

Addie and Alley were divorced between 1905 and 1909. He remarried three times before his death on July 30, 1937, in Hillsdale, Michigan. He was buried in Kirby Cemetery, Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Addie married Robert H. Wyman on June 25, 1910. He was born in Lyons, New York, on April 5, 1845. He died on February 28, 1929, at the age of eighty-four years. He was buried in North Adams Cemetery. They had no children.

After the death of her second husband, Addie lived in North

Adams until her death on August 12, 1932. She was buried in North Adams Cemetery, Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

A neighbor, Eva Culver Wolcott, wrote the following poem dedicated to Addie at the time of her death:

"A Good-bye"

I heard my neighbor close the latch and turn the nightly key,
And though I did not hear her voice, she said "Good-bye" to me.
I saw her draw the curtain down, and one small shaft of light
Shone slanting through the window pane, again she said "Good-night."

And the daylight came around, and I saw clean blue smoke
From breakfast fire across the way, I knew twas thus she spoke:
"Good-morning, and good-morning, friend, me thinks the day is fair"
(For she had seen my chimney fire-sign and knew I was there).

I'll miss these friendly messages that came across the way;
The door is closed, the window dark, my neighbor died today.

ELLA JANE (DURGA) HITCHCOCK

Ella Jane Durga (Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Charlotte T. (Lyon) and Levi H. Durga, was born June 30, 1864, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

She died in Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan, on November 19, 1954, from complications of a broken hip and old age. She was buried in the Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

On Thanksgiving Day, November 29, 1883, she was married to Charles Edward Hitchcock, on his nineteenth birthday, by the Reverend Delevan B. Reed, of Hillsdale, at the home of William Timms. Their children are:

Charles Edward Hitchcock, Ella Jane (Durga) Hitchcock

Ella Jane Durga was the youngest of ten children. When she was six weeks old, the entire family was ill with typhoid fever from which Ella's father did not survive. Her father, Levi Durga, had contracted the fever which was epidemic at that time while delivering horses for the Northern Army during the Civil War. At the time of his death the family was living on the farm across from Grandfather Simeon Lyon. Ella's mother stayed on the farm and cared for her family, and it was not until Ella Jane was eight years old did Charlotte marry George Stott. He had a daughter who had died in her teens and two sons from a previous marriage. There were no children born to this second marriage.

As a little girl in school, Ella received many prizes for her fine penmanship and for her excellence in spelling. Even today, two of her prizes which were gold pens are cherished by her great-grandsons.

Ella's husband, Charles Edward Hitchcock, was born on November 29, 1864, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, to Horace Philockless and Esther (Cook) Hitchcock. He died near Ann Arbor, Michigan, on October 11, 1947, of old age. He was buried in Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

As a boy Charles lived on a farm and spent his adult life farming and raising beef cattle. He also bought and sold livestock. He was known to be one of the best stockbuyers between Chicago and Buffalo, New York. As a stockman, he was away from the farm a great deal and traveled considerably. He was also considered to be a fine butcher.

He and Ella lived in Adams Township except for the short time they lived in Wheatland and Ransom townships. Their farm on Mauck Road is still in the family as it is now owned by Atta (Hitchcock) Fien.

As a farmer's wife, Ella always worked hard all her life to make a home for her husband and their eight children. She helped with the farm chores, raised turkeys and chickens, kept a garden and strawberry patch. Ella's children recall her processing many gallons of maple syrup from their "sugar bush" and making enough maple sugar to fill a large clothes basket.

Ella's daughter Atta said that her mother couldn't understand anyone not wanting to live in the country which she loved. Although her house was small and old, the living room with its old-fashioned wall paper and wall kerosene lamps had a stove which always promised warmth and comfort. Here Ella felt one could work, and her many children crowded it most of the time. She worked very hard to provide the essentials for her family. She spun yarn from the wool from their black sheep to knit stockings for her family.

In her struggles to feed and clothe her family Ella Jane found that happiness and success are not measured by material things. Her personal life was accomplished with few failures and many achievements. She had great tolerance and understanding. She was greatly admired for her courage to endure and manage troubles which she met as they appeared during her long life. She learned to be constructive in her thinking through a sense of being needed by family and friends. She was so very good when sickness struck. She seemed to know instinctively how to ease the discomforts of the ill. With her family she had many opportunities to serve.

However, Ella and Charles, as with most families, had their sorrows to face. In 1908 they lost their little daughter Rose, the darling of the family. One year later they lost their son Avery at age twenty-two, just after he had returned home from working in the West. Of all their eight children Myrtle was the only one who lived at home with all of them as she was the fourth youngster.

Ella's life was spent making the most of what she had. Her happiness came from striving to achieve success in conquering her hardships which were many. Her interests were varied. She had a rug and carpet loom on which she wove many lovely rugs. She crocheted as well as knitted and made quilts. She was well known for her recitations at community affairs and parties. She also played the organ. She enjoyed playing and singing favorite hymns and was a member of the North Adams Methodist Church.

Ella and Charles Hitchcock celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary in 1933 and their Sixtieth in 1943. In an album of Ella's was the following verse written before her marriage:

> Ella:
> May your joys be as deep as the ocean
> And your sorrows as light as its foam.
> (Signed) Charley

Charles was a small man and had medium brown curly hair, fair complexion, and a soft voice. He was neat in appearance and did not care to visit with people unless he had something of importance to say. He was a man of few words.

Ella was a little less than average in size. Her hair was straight and very dark in color. She was always blind in one eye and was nearing blindness in the other when she died. She had a very interesting personality and many friends. She had a very keen sense of humor and a sharp but kindly wit in expressing her observations which made her an amusing and stimulating conversationalist. She could even see a funny side to a situation of which she didn't approve.

Both Charles and Ella Hitchcock came from large families. Charles at eighty-three outlived all twelve of his father's children and attained the greatest age of any of them except for his half-brother John. Ninety years of age at the time of her death, Ella (Durga) Hitchcock outlived all her brothers and sisters, and she too attained the greatest age of any of them.

NELLIE VIOLA (HITCHCOCK) (CASEY) HAMBY

Nellie Viola Hitchcock (Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Ella J. (Durga) and Charles E. Hitchcock, was born November 5, 1884, on the farm of her grandfather, Horace P. Hitchcock, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

She died in Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan, on February 16,

Nellie Viola (Hitchcock) (Casey) Hamby, Ralph Franklin Hamby

1963, after a long illness and was buried in the North Adams Cemetery (Northlawn), Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Nellie was married first to John Lewis Casey by Dr. D. B. Reed on June 14, 1905, in Hillsdale, Michigan. They had no children. Her second marriage was to Ralph Franklin Hamby on October 5, 1919, in Detroit, Michigan. They had no children.

Nellie Viola Hitchcock as a child lived in the farm home of her parents in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan. She attended the schools of that area and graduated from the North Adams High School in 1902. As Class Historian she told of the many obstacles they had had to overcome. Even at that time Nellie was interested in history.

After graduating from high school Nellie taught school until she married John L. Casey in 1905. They lived on a farm in Wheatland Township. They were divorced October, 1918. John Casey passed away in 1963.

After her marriage to Ralph F. Hamby in 1919 she lived in Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan, where she continued to live until her death in 1963.

Ralph Franklin Hamby, son of Joseph Andrew and Virginia (Hargrave) Hamby, was born on December 21, 1891, in Columbus, Georgia, the sixth and youngest child.

He was a heavyset man weighing over two hundred pounds. He was blond and had a good-natured disposition. He was well informed as he loved to read.

He had worked as an electrician, a motion-picture operator, and a long-distance auto and freight truck driver. While driving his truck near Vermilion, Ohio, he suffered a fatal heart attack on July 2, 1945.

His funeral was held in Detroit, and graveside services were conducted at the North Adams Cemetery where he was taken for burial.

Nellie was of medium stature with blue eyes and medium brown wavy hair. She was talented in many areas. She painted in oils and even taught classes in oil painting for the Detroit Adult Education Program. She was very interested in handicraft and did many kinds of needlework and quilts. She also loved to garden and had a special love for flowers both indoors and outdoors. She specialized in African violets.

Nellie Hamby was also interested in public affairs. She helped with food rationing at the time of World War II and also assisted in registering young men for the Selective Service in Detroit. She received a Certificate from the President of the United States thanking her for her work. She also helped in taking the 1950 census in Detroit by being a crew leader.

Her love of history led to a project which spanned many years. She compiled and tabulated information on the genealogies of the Hitchcock and Lyon families. Her interest in this research led her through many Historical Collections in libraries in Detroit, old newspaper files, offices of County Clerks, correspondence, and she made many personal inquiries. She even searched cemetery records and stones for information.

Of this material she gave without reserve in the preparation of the Hitchcock Genealogy 1958 by Dr. Clarence H. Hitchcock and Miss Grace Helen Hitchcock. Her research materials for both families together with clippings from newspapers and scrapbooks were compiled in two notebooks which she gave to the Hillsdale Public Library. These compilations have been invaluable in this study.

AVERY EDWARD HITCHCOCK

Avery Edward Hitchcock (Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), son of Ella J. (Durga) and Charles E. Hitchcock, was born January 18, 1887, in Ransom Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

He died in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, at the home of Mrs. Ann Ferguson on October 18, 1909. He was buried in Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County. His pallbearers were Arthur and Percy Wells, Fred Van Orthwick, and Lester Gemmil.

Avery Edward Hitchcock

Avery resided with his parents on their farm in Adams Township and attended the schools of that area. He had spent several weeks working in the harvest fields in North Dakota, as the young men at that time often did, and had just returned home ten days before his untimely death at age twenty-two.

Avery was the oldest son of Ella and Charles Hitchcock and resembled his father in appearance. He had curly, medium brown hair. He was short of stature and slight of build. He was very quick to move or act.

He was known to have been a thoughtful and kindly son. His mother often told how he would help her with the laundry before he went off to school. He would not only help to heat the water but would help to rub the clothes on a scrub board.

He was a young man respected by all who knew him. He was as quick in his school work as he was in his actions. He was well informed as he loved to read. He was especially interested in history and left a sizable library of books, some of which are still in the family.

CLIFFORD HUGH HITCHCOCK

Clifford Hugh Hitchcock (Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), son of Ella J. (Durga) and Charles E. Hitchcock, was born on June 5, 1889, in Great-Grandmother Lyon's home in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

He died in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, at his home after suffering a fatal heart attack on March 18, 1959. He was found by his neighbors who went to investigate upon not seeing him about as usual. He lived alone as he was unmarried. He was buried in North Adams (Northlawn) Cemetery, Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

He spent his childhood on his parents' farm in Adams Township where he attended the nearby schools. As a young man he spent several summers working in the harvest fields of Kansas and then moving northward as the grain ripened. Many young men of the area spent their summers in this way to earn money.

In 1930 he bought a farm in section 24 of Adams Township not far from his parents' farm on Mauck Road. The farm had been the Elisha Hodgman farm. Hiram Lyon, Clifford's great uncle, had married Mary Ann Hodgman, Elisha's daughter.

Clifford H. Hitchcock served his country in World War I as Private No. 867132 in the 43rd Spruce Squadron, Spruce Production Division, Bureau Aircraft Production. He was inducted February 18, 1918, at Hillsdale, Michigan, and was honorably discharged January 15, 1919, at Camp Custer, Michigan, by reason of "Demobilization of the Army." His time of service was spent in the state of Washington where he worked in the virgin timber, cutting the trees, and in the sawmills to furnish lumber for airplanes and ships.

In 1957 he underwent two operations for cataracts to restore his eyesight. His sister, Atta, a registered nurse, cared for him at that time in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

At the time of his death he was a retired farmer, but he had kept his team of horses as he was very fond of them. He also had some sheep and cattle. He had worked as a stone mason and carpenter in his earlier life. He was a highly skilled stonecutter which is becoming a lost art. Many homes in the area still display the beauty of his work in fireplaces and porches.

Clifford helped Burley Lamb build a sixty-foot chicken coop and an addition to the big barn, fifty-two by seventy-two feet, after Burley purchased from his father, Ben Lamb, the Lamb farm, including the 152 acres originally purchased by Simeon Lyon, great-grandfather of both Clifford and Burley, when he first came to Michigan. Clifford also helped Burley rebuild the old house that Simeon Lyon first built on the 100 acres he bought in Adams Township and where he lived the rest of his life. Clifford rebuilt the old stone wall and built some new stone walls under the old homestead of Simeon Lyon.

Those who knew Clifford Hitchcock had great respect and praise for him. He was a simple man of simple tastes. He was genial and kind—endowed with great patience. He never hurried and his lack of punctuality was a by-word. Still he was a hard worker and preoccupation with his own troubles never prevented him from helping a relative, friend, or neighbor.

He had a fine disposition and a great sense of humor. His mother often said he was a very thoughtful and helpful son and was especially kind to his brothers and sisters. Many a time he perched his little sister Rose on his shoulders and took her to the fields with him. He was a very reasonable person who was liberal in his thinking and tolerant toward those who differed with him. Happiness for him was not dependent on money or material goods.

MYRTLE MAY (HITCHCOCK) PARKER

Myrtle May Hitchcock (Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Ella J. (Durga) and Charles E. Hitchcock, was born September 9, 1891, in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

She married Floyd William Parker on June 19, 1912. He was born in Ann Arbor Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan, on January 13, 1886. He died in Ann Arbor on June 29, 1970. He was buried in Oak Grove Cemetery, Dixboro, Washtenaw County, Michigan. Their children are:

Elwood Floyd	August 21, 1916	————	————
Leona Myrtle	July 10, 1920	June 6, 1942	————

Floyd William Parker, Myrtle May (Hitchcock) Parker (Golden Wedding Day)

When Myrtle May was four years old, her parents moved to a farm in Adams Township on Mauck Road. There she spent her childhood and attended Bross School No. 2. She graduated from North Adams High School in 1910 and after graduation taught the Pease School and the Mud Lake Grade School for the next two years.

After her marriage to Floyd W. Parker in 1912 she went with her husband to live on a 96-acre farm in Washtenaw County on Dixboro Road near Ann Arbor. They lived in the same farm home, built by Floyd's father, for fifty-eight years. Myrtle is still living there. At the present time the University of Michigan Matthai Botanical Gardens are located across the road from their farm.

The Ann Arbor area lacked a good hatchery, and in the 1920s Myrtle began to experiment with a 140-egg incubator to hatch chicks. The results of her experiments were so satisfactory she decided to install additional equipment. Dr. John Hannah, at that time Michigan State College poultry specialist and later President of Michigan State College (now Michigan State University), advised Myrtle in her poultry and hatchery venture. Thus the Parker Poultry Farm and Hatchery was launched, specializing in Barred Plymouth Rocks, Parker strain.

Other members of the family had to assist in the business as it grew and developed. Floyd took the short course at Michigan State College to become a qualified blood-tester of poultry, and Elwood, their younger son, also took the short course to help in the hatchery operation. Their incubators had 16,000-egg capacity, and they hatched as many as 100,000 chicks a year. They kept over 1,000 hens on the farm.

In 1934 one of their hens won the International Egg Laying contest at Michigan State College. Their farm was one of those selected as a demonstration center for many years by the Michigan State College specialists. Culling demonstrations and other clinics were held there. The Parker eggs were used in Polio research by Dr. Thomas Francis and Dr. Jonas Salk at The University of Michigan. In 1952, for health reasons, Myrtle and Floyd retired from the hatchery, but they continued the Poultry Farm and furnished the University with fertile eggs for experimental work.

Although Myrtle was very busy in her career as hatcheryman, she still had many outside interests. She was an active member in the Michigan Farm Bureau for many years and served as treasurer for the Blue Cross-Blue Shield program of the Bureau. Myrtle was also a local leader in the Home Economics Extension Program from Michigan State University. She is and has been a member of the Dixboro United Methodist Church and also a member of the Dixboro Women's Society of Christian Service. Her hobbies have been many—gardening, sewing, tailoring, and weaving. She wove on her loom the material for a dress which she made to wear at her and Floyd's Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary on June 19, 1962.

Myrtle's husband, Floyd William Parker, was born on a farm near the village of Dixboro to William Eli and Eliza Jane (Mulholland) Parker. His father was English and his mother was Irish.

Floyd attended the Dixboro rural school and the Ann Arbor High School. He also studied accounting and business at Cleary College in Ypsilanti.

He was a member of the Dixboro United Methodist Church for over sixty years and served as its treasurer for many years. He was a member of the Michigan Farm Bureau and also served on the Dixboro School Board. Floyd also served for many years on the County Tax Review Board.

Floyd Parker's main hobbies were amateur photography and music. He played the violin and in his younger days furnished music for church services, parties, and entertainments. He loved to fiddle for square dances. In his retirement years he spent many hours in his woodworking shop making bookcases, tables, doll beds, and many items requested by family and friends.

Floyd lived on the same farm where he was born until his death in 1970. His death resulted from complications of a broken hip. He was a man generous with his time and himself. He was respected and well known for his honesty and sincerity. He and Myrtle had many fine years together.

IVAN WILLIAM PARKER

Ivan William Parker (Myrtle,[4] Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), son of Myrtle M. (Hitchcock) and Floyd W. Parker, was born on May 20, 1913, in Ann Arbor Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan.

He was married to Elnor Lydia Coles on June 26, 1939, in the Saline United Methodist Church by his friend, Reverend Cardwell L. Prout, of Syracuse, New York. Elnor was born on October 5, 1914, in Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan. Their children are:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
William Walter	January 2, 1943	June 24, 1967	————
James Floyd	November 2, 1946	June 14, 1969	————
Gerald Raleigh	November 2, 1946	————	————

Ivan W. Parker was born on the same farm where his father was born—on Dixboro Road about five miles northeast of Ann Arbor, Michigan. His earliest memories are connected with World War I, as the young men of the neighborhood stopped at the farm to say good-bye before going into the military service. He remembers well the celebration of the Armistice. He also recalls the fun he had watching the carpenters build the new barn in 1919 when he was six years old.

Ivan attended the rural school at Dixboro which was about a mile from his home. At that time the Dixboro School was a Zone School of Ypsilanti Normal College. Ivan was the lone member of his class during his eight grades. He was an avid reader, and by the time he was an eighth-grader he had read all the books in the school library, including the large edition of the Webster's Dictionary. He took part in county-wide spell-downs which were popular at that time.

In 1930 Ivan graduated from the University (of Michigan) High School in Ann Arbor. He was on the debate team, student council, sports editor of the paper, had the lead in the sophomore play, and a part in the junior class play. He pitched softball and played handball. There were just fifty members of his class.

A week after his high school graduation he entered Ypsilanti Normal College (later Michigan State Normal College and now Eastern Michigan University). In 1931 he received a limited Teacher's Certificate which allowed him to teach rural school.

His first two years of teaching were spent at Podunk School in Webster Township, Washtenaw County, and he then taught his home school in Dixboro. Each summer he worked toward his bachelor's degree with a major in mathematics, English, and history. In 1939 he was awarded his B.S. in mathematics from Michigan State Normal College (now Eastern Michigan University). He was also elected to Phi Delta Kappa, the education national honorary society. He continued his education by summer work for a master's degree at the University of Michigan. In 1946 he received his A.M. in education from the University.

In 1934 Ivan Parker was hired by Mr. Henry Ford personally to teach his Willow Run School near Belleville, Michigan. In 1937, he was transferred to Old Stone Pennington School, Ford's school in Macon, near Tecumseh, Michigan, where the eighty-year-old teacher, Jerome Travis, was too ill to continue teaching. Under Ivan Parker's tutelage the Ford private school system of the area was reorganized from several rural eight-grade schools to a system of schools ranging from nursery school through high school. Old Stone Pennington became the Macon High School (now Boyville). The Martha-Mary Chapel, the replica of the one at Greenfield Village in Dearborn, was erected at Macon as part of the school system. Programs were broadcast on the national radio network from the Chapel. The high school was a campus-type school and attendance was by application but tuition-free.

Ivan, as principal, instituted his ideas on core-curriculum which educated the whole child by correlating the teaching of all subjects in all classes. This necessitated hiring and training skilled teachers. Ivan Parker wrote his master's degree thesis on Henry Ford's philosophy of education—Learn by Doing. Ivan was honored by having his thesis selected as one of five sent to the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., by the University of Michigan in 1946.

In 1944 Ivan Parker was promoted and took charge of the Greenfield Village Schools of the Edison Institute Schools in Dearborn, Michigan.

At the time of Henry Ford's death in 1947, Ivan was approached by the University of Michigan to handle their scholarship program. He joined the staff of the University in 1947 as an Assistant Dean in charge of scholarships. At the present time he is Associate Director of Financial Aids.

Ivan finds his work most enjoyable and rewarding as he has contacts with students, faculty, alumni, foundations, government offices, and donors. Among his many interesting experiences have been his opportunities to dine and participate in meetings with the two top motor magnates of this era—Henry Ford, in connection with the Edison Institute Schools, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., in connection with the Sloan Scholarship program.

Ivan's hobbies are stamp collecting, calling square dances, gardening, photography (for twenty-five years he made and sent a picture Christmas card), camping, and traveling. The family trip to the 1965 Rose Bowl game stands as a family highlight. Sports events are also high on the Parker interest list.

Ivan's wife, Elnor (Coles) Parker, was the daughter of Walter Peter Coles and Helena (Nimtz) Coles.

Elnor attended Perry School, Bach School, and Jones School, all grade schools in Ann Arbor. In 1932 she graduated from Ann Arbor High School as valedictorian. In 1936 she graduated from the University of Michigan with an A.B. in Latin and French (summa cum laude) and with a life Teacher's Certificate. She was elected to Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, and Phi Beta Kappa (honorary societies). She was granted the honor award of Phi Tau Alpha for excellence in Latin and Greek. Elnor was also a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, social sorority. After graduation she worked in the Editorial Office of the University from 1936 to 1940. In 1940 she and Ivan moved near Tecumseh to be near his work in Macon. After leaving Ann Arbor Elnor was soon busy with their family of three boys—William and identical twins, James and Gerald.

Elnor's hobbies have been collecting antiques, refinishing furniture, ballroom dancing, square dancing (even calling on occasion), camping, and traveling.

In 1957 Elnor returned to her profession and is at present Editor at the University of Michigan Press which publishes scholarly books. She enjoys the variety of scholarly works which she has an opportunity to edit including anthropology, history, English literature, sociology, economics, classical works, psychiatry, psychology, botany, and zoology. Elnor has been selected to be listed in the Who's Who of American Women.

Ivan has been a member of the Dixboro United Methodist Church since 1925, and after her marriage to Ivan, Elnor transferred her membership in the Ann Arbor Zion Lutheran Church to the Dixboro United Methodist Church.

Ivan and Elnor have had a busy and happy life and most recently have enjoyed working together in writing sketches for the Who's Who in the Lyon Family.

William always wanted to study engineering at the University of Michigan. From the time he was two years old he was interested in flashlights, progressing to electrical gadgets. A prophetic statement of his future was given by Bill following his first day at kindergarten. Although not yet five years old, Bill summed up his first-day experience at school in answer to the next-door neighbor's questioning, "I didn't learn a thing new. Guess I'll go to the University College of Engineering tomorrow."

He did enter the College of Engineering in 1960 and received his B.S.E. (E.E.) degree form the University of Michigan in 1964, his M.S.E. in 1965, and his Ph.D. in electrical engineering in December, 1969.

While attending the University of Michigan William was elected to various honorary societies. He is a member of Eta Kappa Nu, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi, and Sigma Xi. He served as president of Eta Kappa Nu in 1963–64. He was an Angell Scholar and was awarded the Branstrom Prize for excellence in his studies. In 1964 he was student chairman of the Engineering Honors Convocation. For three years while in the University of Michigan Rackham School of Graduate Studies he held a National Science Foundation Fellowship which he won in national competition. While working on his doctoral thesis he was granted research fellowships entailing government clearance to research on classified information.

Since June, 1970, Bill has been working as a Member of the Technical Staff at Bell Telephone Laboratories in Colorado near Denver. His research specialities are antennae and computers.

William has many interests and hobbies. While living in Ann Arbor he belonged to the Dixboro United Methodist Church and the Wesley Foundation on the University of Michigan campus. After he and Bev were married, they joined the Glacier Way United Methodist Church as charter members. Since they moved to Boulder, they are now members of the Boulder United Methodist Church.

Bill's outside activities include touch football, softball, tennis, and bowling. He collects stamps and is a model railroad buff. He is a sports fan and has also earned a number of master points in duplicate bridge.

William's wife, Bev, spent her childhood in Ann Arbor and attended Burns Park Elementary School and Tappan Junior High School. She graduated from Ann Arbor High School in 1962. She was a member of the Washington Club. Bev was also a member of the Ann Arbor High School Hostess Club and in her senior year was its president, an honored position for the seniors. She was a member and also an officer of the Tri-Hi-Y, a group made up of high school students from the three Ann Arbor high schools. She was also very active in the MYF (Methodist Youth Fellowship) of the West Side United Methodist Church.

Bev entered the University of Michigan College of Literature, Science, and the Arts and graduated in April, 1966. She received an A.B. in psychology and business. After graduation Bev worked four years as an Administrative Assistant in charge of the Office of Sociological Resources of Secondary Schools under Dr. Robert Angell, professor of sociology and former chairman of the Department of Sociology at the University of Michigan.

While on campus Bev was a member of the Wesley Foundation and was very active in its programs. She has always been very civic-minded and spent one summer in Washington, D.C., working for Congressman George Meader from Ann Arbor.

Since moving to Boulder in June, 1970, Bev has been active in the Newcomers Club of Boulder and the League of Women Voters. She also teaches French sewing, knits, paints in oils, and is interested in handicrafts of all kinds. She is an excellent cook and belongs to a Gourmet Cooking group.

Bill and Bev are members of a bowling team and last year were among the trophy winners. They have found Boulder with the University of Colorado a very interesting and friendly place to live.

JAMES FLOYD PARKER

James Floyd Parker (Ivan,[5] Myrtle,[4] Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), son of Ivan W. and Elnor L. (Coles) Parker, was born on November 2, 1946, in Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan. Jim is an identical twin to Gerald Raleigh Parker.

He married Sharon Kay Metty on June 14, 1969, in the Lincoln Park Methodist Church, in Lincoln Park, Wayne County, Michigan. Sharon, daughter of Eugene Raymond and Elizabeth (McMillan) Metty, was born in Trenton, Wayne County, Michigan, on August 22, 1947. After their marriage Jim and Sharon lived in Ann Arbor, and in the fall of 1969 they moved to Evanston, Cook County, Illinois. At present they reside in Wheeling, Cook County, Illinois, northwest of Evanston.

In July, 1947, when James and Gerald were eight months old, the family moved from Dearborn to Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the time their father joined the staff at the University of Michigan. James attended Burns Park Elementary School and Tappan Junior High School. In 1964 he graduated from Ann Arbor High School.

James F. Parker graduated from the University of Michigan School of Business Administration in 1968. He received his Bachelor of Business Administration (summa cum laude) degree and was honored with a special medal for graduating first in his class. Jim was elected to various honorary societies. He is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Phi, and Beta Gamma Sigma.

While an undergraduate at the University, James worked every summer in the University of Michigan Registrar's Office. After he received his degree he worked as an Accountant for the University of Michigan Business Office for two summers.

In the fall of 1968 he received a fellowship for graduate study at

James Floyd Parker, Sharon Kay (Metty) Parker

Garrett Theological Seminary in Evanston, Illinois. He was ordained Deacon in the United Methodist Church on June 13, 1969, the day before he was married. He continued his graduate study which was a three-year course and received his Master of Divinity degree from Garrett Theological Seminary in June, 1971.

James Parker had the honor of being the official representative of the University of Michigan at the inauguration of Merlyn W. Northfelt as president of Garrett Theological Seminary on March 8, 1971. Jim also represented the Garrett student body as a class officer.

At present James is serving on a special appointment to the United Methodist Church National Pension Board in Evanston, Illinois.

While enrolled at the University of Michigan James was active in church activities. He was president of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Michigan in 1967. In 1968 he transferred his membership from the Dixboro United Methodist Church to the First United Methodist Church in Ann Arbor.

James has always been interested in sports. A highlight of his college days was his trip to the Rose Bowl game in Pasadena, California, January 1, 1965, when Michigan's football team defeated Oregon State University by the score of 34 to 7. Also in 1968 James was pitcher on the undefeated ball team for the First United Methodist Church of Ann Arbor with a record of 10 wins and 0 losses. At Garrett, James was manager for intramural sports for touch football, baseball, volleyball, and basketball. He plays all these sports as well as tennis. He also swims and skates.

Music is another hobby of Jim's. He plays piano—both classical music and jazz. He plays duets with his twin brother Gerald and together they have composed some jazz.

James's wife, Sharon, spent her childhood in Lincoln Park, Michigan, and attended the schools of the area. She graduated from Lincoln Park High School in 1965. In the fall of 1965 Sharon entered the University of Michigan and in May, 1969, she graduated from the University of Michigan School of Nursing with the degree Bachelor of Science in Nursing and her R.N. (Registered Nurse). Following her graduation she worked one summer at the University (of Michigan) Hospital as a registered nurse. After she and James were married, they moved to Evanston, Illinois, in the fall of 1969. She worked as a registered staff nurse in Skokie (Illinois) Hospital. At present she is on the staff of the Park Ridge (Illinois) Lutheran Hospital as a registered nurse and is head nurse of the Internal Medicine floor. Her specialty is diabetes, and she gives seminars in various hospitals on its treatment.

Sharon has many interests. She has studied piano, voice, ballet, and toe dancing. She was also in dramatics and was well known for her dramatic readings. She also appeared on television. While in high school she sang and acted major roles in "South Pacific," "Music Man," and "Sound of Music."

Sharon also spent two months in Spain on the Youth Exchange for Understanding program.

Sharon has been very active in church work and is a member of the Lincoln Park Methodist Church. Her family is very musical, and Sharon, her mother, father, and sister were members of the church choir. Sharon and her father were a popular duet. However, when Sharon was fourteen years old, her father suffered a fatal heart attack. The church dedicated the Metty Memorial Organ in his honor. Her father's untimely death influenced Sharon to study nursing rather than music as a career. However, Sharon enjoys her music as an avocation.

Sharon has many hobbies. She knits, sews, and plays tennis, volleyball, swims, and skates. She enjoys sports of all kinds. She is an excellent cook.

She and James enjoy traveling and have been to the Bahamas and most recently in Boulder, Colorado.

GERALD RALEIGH PARKER

Gerald Raleigh Parker (Ivan,[5] Myrtle,[4] Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), son of Ivan W. and Elnor L. (Coles) Parker, was born on November 2, 1946, in Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan. Jerry is an identical twin to James Floyd Parker and is younger by eight minutes.

Jerry's family moved to Ann Arbor, Michigan, from Dearborn when he and James were eight months old in July, 1947. Gerald attended Burns Park Elementary School and Tappan Junior High School. In 1964 he graduated from Ann Arbor High School.

Gerald R. Parker graduated from the University of Michigan School of Business Administration in 1968. He received his Bachelor of Business Administration (summa cum laude) degree. Jerry always had a healthy competition academically with his twin brother, James. Although James graduated first in his class in the professional school, Gerald was so close behind him the difference was minimal. At the Honors Convocation which honored the graduating seniors, the dean mentioned that he wished he could give two medals to the Parker twins as they were so close in honor-point average, but since by tradition there could be just one medal, it was awarded to James.

Gerald, on the other hand, had been first in their class at the end of their sophomore year in the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts before they entered the professional School of Business Administration. Gerald was elected to various honorary societies. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Beta Gamma Sigma. He was also awarded the Branstrom Prize for excellence in his studies.

Gerald has worked every summer for the University of Michigan Registrar's Office since 1964. He has worked in its various divisions and most recently in the Orientation Office handling the parents' program.

Gerald was active in the Wesley Foundation at the University of Michigan. He was treasurer of Wesley while at the University of Michigan and was also state treasurer for the Michigan intercampus organization. He is a member of the Dixboro United Methodist Church.

In the fall of 1968 Gerald received a fellowship for graduate study at Garrett Theological Seminary in Evanston, Illinois. He was ordained Deacon in the United Methodist Church on June 13, 1969. In 1969–70 he continued his graduate study for his master's degree which is a three-year course. However, in the fall of 1970 he took leave of his course work to accept an assistant pastorship in the Hobart United Methodist Church in Hobart, Indiana. He served there until the end of the school year.

Gerald enjoyed his ministerial work very much. He worked with the youth of the church. He initiated a program with the community to help correct the environmental pollution of the area. The young people of the church and of the community collected bottles for recycling. Hobart furnished a city truck for hauling the bottles and glass to a recycling station.

Gerald also had a visitation program and visited the sick in the hospital and the shut-ins at home. He also had regular preaching assignments. At one special service he and his twin brother James, also a minister, stood side by side in the pulpit and preached a dialogue sermon on the Prodigal Son.

At present Gerald is finishing his last year of course work at Garrett Theological Seminary. He has been elected as one of two students to the academic Senate which is the faculty-administrative-student body for decision-making. He plans to receive his Master of Divinity degree in June, 1972.

Gerald has always maintained a great interest in sports and has played on summer league softball teams and intramural touch football, softball, basketball, and volleyball teams during the school year. He also enjoys tennis, golf, swimming, and skating.

Gerald has many hobbies. He enjoys playing the piano, both classical music and jazz. He plays duets with James and even composed jazz with him. Gerald also enjoys traveling, and his trip to the 1965 Rose Bowl game in Pasadena, California, stands out as one of the highlights.

The U. S. Jaycees selected Gerald R. Parker as one of the Outstanding Young Men of America for 1971, and presented him with an Award Certificate for his "outstanding ability, many accomplishments, and service." He was nominated by the Jaycees of Hobart, Indiana, for his service to their community.

PANSY PEARL (HITCHCOCK) MURDOCK

Pansy Pearl Hitchcock (Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Ella J. (Durga) and Charles E. Hitchcock, was born on November 11, 1895, one mile west of Church's Corners in Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

Pansy Pearl (Hitchcock) Murdock

She died at her home in the village of Girard, five miles north of Coldwater, Michigan, on March 31, 1957, and was buried in the Oak Grove Cemetery at Coldwater, Branch County, Michigan, at the southeast corner of section 15. For three years she had battled cancer with surgery, and as the end neared she expressed the desire to die at her home which she loved. Her sister Atta (Hitchcock) Fien who was a nurse went to Girard and lovingly cared for her. Atta, with her husband Fred Fien, was with her until the end.

Pansy Pearl married Charles Lewis Murdock on October 11, 1916, in Los Angeles, California. He was born in Somerset, Michigan, on December 20, 1879, to Lewis and Delia Murdock. Pansy and Charles Murdock had no children.

Charles Murdock died in Coldwater, Branch County, Michigan, on February 18, 1960, from a heart attack after surgery and was buried beside his wife in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Pansy Pearl as a child lived on her parents' farm in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, to which they had moved in late 1895. She graduated from North Adams High School in June, 1914. She taught school in the area after her graduation until she was married in California.

After she returned from California, she and Charles moved to Clayton, Lenawee County, Michigan, where they lived on a fruit and dairy farm. She continued her teaching career and took courses at Michigan State Normal College (now Eastern Michigan University) in Ypsilanti and received a limited certificate for teaching on August 5, 1926. On August 6, 1931, she received her Bachelor of Science degree from Michigan State Normal College. At this time she and her husband were living in Adrian. In 1947 Pansy and Charles moved to Girard.

Pansy taught school all her life and held teaching positions in Monroe, Hillsdale, and Lenawee counties and also near Adrian. She also taught at Olivet and Hartford, Michigan.

It was said that she loved her chosen profession of teaching, loved her pupils, and they reciprocated even though she was known to be a disciplinarian. Many of her students credited their success in life to her early influence and guidance. She believed firmly in being frank and outspoken—a trait her students seemed to admire. Despite increasing ill health she kept faithfully at her task of teaching until finally she was forced to take to her bed after thirty-four years in her profession.

Pansy also loved her home and was an excellent housekeeper as well as an excellent cook. She was very artistic and talented. She was interested in many crafts—photography and jewelry-making in particular. She was fond of animals and usually had a collie dog.

As to stature Pansy was of medium height. She was very attractive in appearance with fair complexion and wavy reddish brown hair. During illness or trouble she was very thoughtful and considerate not only of children but also of elderly persons. She was an idealist and enjoyed reading both prose and poetry. L Grant Hitchcock

L Grant Hitchcock lived at home with his parents as a youngster and attended the schools of the area. He finished the tenth grade in the North Adams High School and decided to go west in 1918. He worked in the harvest fields and on a cattle ranch in Nebraska. Returning east in 1920, he worked as a steam engineer and later cut timber for two winters in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

In 1928 Grant became the first supervisor of the Jackson County Juvenile Home when it was established. He and his wife Shirley, who was its first superintendent, worked there for twenty-six years until they retired in 1954.

Grant enjoyed hunting and fishing and the out-of-doors. He was a well-known breeder of hunting dogs. He often trapped fur animals on his farm near North Adams.

Grant helped many troubled lads who had become juvenile delinquents and had been assigned to the Juvenile Home. As supervisor he often found his work very trying and then again very rewarding when he and Shirley had been able to help some youngster.

Atta May (Hitchcock) Fien, Frederick Ernest Fien

ATTA MAY (HITCHCOCK) FIEN

Atta May Hitchcock (Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Ella J. (Durga) and Charles E. Hitchcock, was born in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, on May 2, 1901.

The summer following graduation she took the teachers' training course at Michigan State Normal College (now Eastern Michigan University) in Ypsilanti, Michigan. For three years she taught the Mud Lake Grade School which was the first rural school of Hillsdale County to have the hot lunch program. In 1922 she entered the University of Michigan Medical School in Ann Arbor to study nursing and graduated in 1925 with an R.N. (Registered Nurse).

Atta had a varied nursing career as a Public Health Nurse in the Detroit Public Schools, Private Duty nurse, and Supervisor of the Obstetrics Department at the University of Michigan Hospital, head nurse of the Washtenaw County Hospital near Ann Arbor, and supervising nurse at the Eastern Michigan University Health Service in Ypsilanti.

She was general chairman of the 1938 Institute of the District Nurses Association. For many years she was recording secretary of the Ann Arbor District Nurses Association and as a member of the board worked to establish uniformity for an eight-hour day for Private Duty nurses.

Atta also worked as Chief Ordnance Materiel Inspector for the Ordnance Department of the U. S. Army at Willow Run, Michigan, in 1942, but resigned due to illness.

Atta has always been fond of animals, especially horses and dogs. She has always had one or two small dogs for pets. She has had a great interest in the humane treatment of animals and has been a member of the Humane Society in Ann Arbor and in Tucson, Arizona. At present she is working with the International Society for the Protection of Animals (ISPA) to abolish the inhumane skinning alive of seal pups in the seal hunts in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence.

Atta is tall in stature and had curly auburn hair which is now white but still curly. She has always been blind in one eye which was a handicap as a child but a handicap she learned to overcome. She has always enjoyed life and has the keen sense of humor of her mother, Ella Hitchcock. She has always enjoyed a good joke.

Although she and Fred had no children, they have befriended many in need. They took into their home on three different occasions girls who had been orphaned or were homeless. They also helped an American Indian student at the University of Arizona to finish his education by providing him a place to live. Atta has always given generously of herself to help her family, friends, neighbors, and even strangers in time of illness or need.

Atta has many fond memories of her childhood—the simple pleasures that make children happy. She remembers the gathering of wildflowers and watching the wild animals and birds in the woods, gathering sap from the maple trees in the spring to make maple syrup, roasting potatoes in the hot coals under the vats and dropping eggs in the hot boiling sap for her lunch.

She remembers earning pin money by raising pet lambs on a bottle, setting traps for muskrats in the swamps, gathering up the bones left from her father's butchering and putting them in a barrel. She remembers Clifford taking her to spear fish or hunt raccoons at night—never complaining or making her feel she was a pest, and the sleigh rides with straw and fur robes after the first heavy snow.

Atta's husband, Frederick Ernest Fien, lost both his parents when he was small. His parents had come from Germany and had settled in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan near some of his father's relatives. Frederick, his brother, and sister were separated to be cared for by various aunts and uncles.

Frederick moved to Chicago, Illinois, to further his education. He worked daytimes and attended night school at Lane Technical High School to study mechanical engineering and drawing. He also attended the Armour Institute, Correspondence School for Steam Engineering. He graduated with honors—over 94 plus average. He also learned the trade of tool and die maker and became an instrument maker. After working in Detroit and Plymouth, Michigan, for Ford, he came to Ann Arbor and was employed at the Engineering Research Institute of the University of Michigan for seventeen years before he retired.

Fred's department specialized in designing and making instruments for various units of the University. The University of Michigan Hospital had various "screws" and "pins" used in the setting of broken bones in the human body designed and made here. Fred worked on inventions and pioneered the making of surgical instrument tools which could be used in the hospital operating rooms in repairing broken hips with the Badgley Plate.

Fred also made the Core rods which were put down in the cobalt well at the University of Michigan Hospital. He also made the University of Michigan Cyclotron copper plates to build up the cyclotron—ten feet in diameter. He was honored for this work on the cyclotron and was featured in the Office of Research Administration Bulletin. Fred also made the microtome and the microtome knife, an instrument used to cut infinitesimally thin slices of human tissue. Shortly before he retired Fred made a soleil compensator to be used in photo-elasticity research.

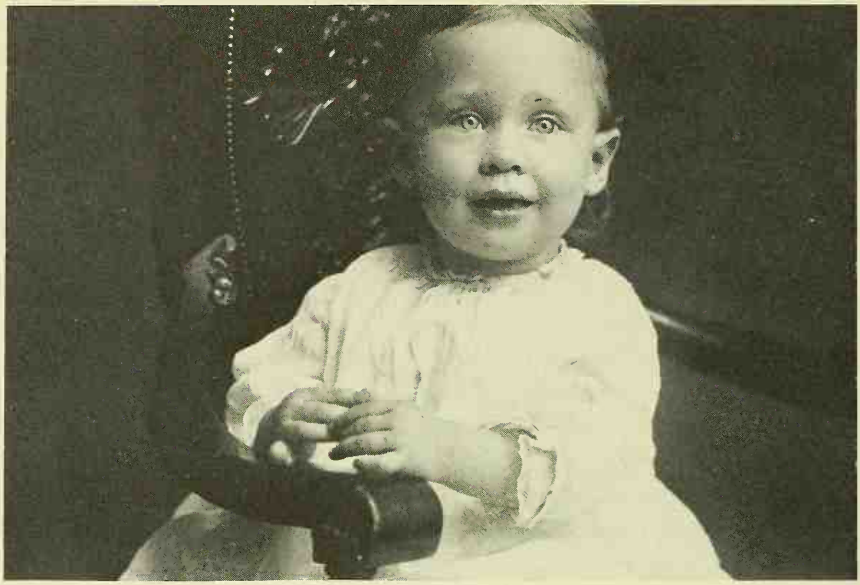
Frederick E. Fien holds a life membership in the Golden Rule Lodge No. 159 F & A.M. in Ann Arbor.

Atta and Fred now live in Tucson, Arizona, most of the year, and they spend the summer months at their farm on Mauck Road near Hillsdale, Michigan. For recreation they enjoy travel, photography, oil painting, growing flowers, stamp and coin collecting, and fishing. They truly enjoy Arizona and are grateful to have been so fortunate as to have had so many happy married years together. As they look to the years ahead they shall strive to grow mentally and spiritually to meet the many problems and pleasures that come.

ROSE AILEEN HITCHCOCK

Rose Aileen Hitchcock (Ella,[3] Charlotte,[2] Simeon[1]), daughter of Ella J. (Durga) and Charles E. Hitchcock, was born in Adams township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, on May 30, 1906.

Rose was the darling of the family. All the children loved to care for her and play with her. It was a great blow to the entire family when little "Rosaline" passed away on October 24, 1908, from spinal meningitis. She was buried in the Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.



Rose Aileen Hitchcock

Her Aunt Electa (Durga) Nokes wrote the following poem in her memory which was published with little "Roselean" Hitchcock's obituary:

"We know not what it is dear, this sleep so deep and still,
The folded hands, the awful calm, the cheek so pale and chill,
The lids that will not lift again, though we may call and call
The strange white solitude of peace that settles over all.
We know not what it means, dear, this desolate heart pain,
This dread to take our daily way, and walk in it again.
We know not why our Roselean, so pure, so sweet, so gay, so bright,
Should speed away with angel wings, in that dark stormy night.

"But this we know, our loved and dead, if you should come this day
And ask us if we wished for pain and sin, we each and all would say
'Dear vanished one, our grief is great, but death to you hath given
Freedom from sin and pain and grief, and happiness in heaven
So death to you, beloved, is but the golden cord
That binds us to each other and leads us to the Lord.
And though our hearts are breaking, we patiently will wait

Hiram Lyon (Simeon[1]), the third child of Simeon and Lillie Diadamia (Taylor) Lyon, was born January 22, 1831, in Castile, New York. He came to Adams Township, Hillsdale County, with his parents in 1843.

On December 22, 1858, he married Mary Ann Hodgman who was born on September 13, 1840, at DeWitt, a short distance east of Syracuse, in Onondaga County, New York. They had twelve children of which ten grew to adulthood.

Hiram in his early twenties went to Chicago where he bought 80 acres of land on the site of the present-day city. He sold out and returned to Michigan when his folks, Simeon and L. Diadamia Lyon, offered him 80 acres of land in Adams Township if he would come home.

Hiram made farming his life business, eventually owning a farm of 230 acres. He was a hard worker, thrifty, and strict in the discipline of his children. He lived on the same farm for forty-two years. He passed away at his home on September 2, 1894, at the age of sixty-three. His death was attributed to dropsy. He was buried at Hill Cemetery, Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan.

His wife, Mary Ann, was a woman of gentle and kindly appearance, but was nevertheless one of considerable ability and strength of character. She was known as a good cook and housekeeper. She passed away on May 21, 1907, after a five-week illness following a sudden attack of gallstones. She was buried beside her husband in the Hill Cemetery.

So far as is known, there is no picture of Hiram Lyon. It is understood that he would not permit one to be taken.

ALICE LAMENZIE (LYON) HITCHCOCK

Alice Lamenzie Lyon (Hiram,[2] Simeon[1]), the oldest child of Hiram and Mary Ann (Hodgman) Lyon, was born on October 23, 1859, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan. Her parents were farmers and the parents of twelve children.

She died at her home in Ludington, Michigan, on July 9, 1947, of old age. She was buried in the Summit Township Cemetery, Mason County, Michigan.

She was very young when she began caring for the younger children in the family. It was her special task to take complete charge of each child at the age of two years. From her mother she learned to cook, make good butter, and dry apples.

When she was fourteen, the Hiram Lyon family moved to a farm across the corner from the Horace B. Hitchcock farm. Just after her nineteenth birthday, on November 19, 1878, she was married to Mr. Hitchcock's son, Martin. He was born on October 30, 1845, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan. Their children were:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
Clarence H.	August 9, 1881	October 27, 1910	May 3, 1967
Grace H.	January 2, 1892	————	November 9, 1970

Shortly after their marriage, Martin and Alice went to Ludington, Michigan, where Martin owned 40 acres of land. The land was heavily timbered, mostly of hard wood. Three weeks after they arrived, Martin had cleared a home site and built a small house, without partitions or plaster. Alice helped to lath the walls, which Martin then plastered. He cleared six acres of land the first summer. His savings of $500 built the house, carried them through the winter, and purchased a pig and cow in the spring. They made maple syrup from their "sugar bush" and received from $0.75 to $1.25 per gallon. Their first crop was from a patch of strawberries, from which they sold forty crates of berries, realizing $80.

Martin H. Hitchcock, Alice Lamenzie (Lyon) Hitchcock, Grace H. Hitchcock

From this beginning a fine fruit farm was developed. Martin believed in growing a variety of fruits rather than depending on only one crop. He and his wife, Alice, produced currants, raspberries, apples, pears, plums, cherries, and peaches as well as strawberries.

In 1892 a barn was built with the help of a raising bee of neighbors. This barn stands today along with a house built in 1902.

Martin died of cancer on March 26, 1914. He was buried in the Summit Township Cemetery, Mason County, Michigan. Alice continued to manage the fruit farm successfully with hired help. She was a member of the Michigan State Horticultural Society and on several occasions won first prizes at the state apple show. She was also a member of the Mason Grange #415 and the Mason County Farm Bureau. It was her custom to carry a light hoe or a special pruning shears as she walked about her farm and to use them here and there as she saw fit. She seemed to have a personal interest in each tree and tried to give each one the special care it needed to do its best.

In 1945 the farm was sold, and a home was purchased in Ludington where she lived with her daughter, Grace, until her death on July 9, 1947.

In 1954, he was awarded an Honorary Degree of Doctor of Engineering by the Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

His wife, Clara, died in Sudbury, Ontario, on December 8, 1953, of arthritis followed by a stroke and was cremated at the William Speers Funeral Home in Toronto, She had been in a wheelchair for thirty years.

Her parents had a developing fruit farm, and she helped in many phases of it from "dropping strawberry plants," picking small fruits, and packing them for shipment to city markets.

She attended the Fairview Rural School which was nearby, two miles from her home. In 1910 she was graduated from Ludington High School as valedictorian of her class. She then enrolled at Michigan Agricultural College (now Michigan State University) in East Lansing where she majored in home economics. She also studied many fields of science, including bacteriology, chemistry, nutrition, botany, and entomology. She received her B.S. degree in 1915 and was elected to membership in Omicron Nu, a national honorary home economics society.

She taught home economics at Lake Lindon, Michigan, for one year. She then became one of the first Home Demonstration Agents sponsored by Michigan Agricultural College through its Extension Department. She was assigned to Grand Haven, Michigan, and

She also worked with many other groups during the World War I period, stressing conservation of resources. These groups included the Red Cross, PTA's, Granges, Farmer's Institutes, Women's Clubs, and County Fairs.

In 1920, Grace returned to the Mason County fruit farm to assist her widowed mother with its management. They conducted a successful operation until 1945 when the farm was sold, and a small home was purchased in Ludington where Grace could give her mother the constant care she needed. Her mother's health had failed and before her death in 1947, Alice became blind.

Grace continued to live in Ludington until her death on November 9, 1970. She had a number of hobbies and pursuits and excelled in each. These included collecting the postage stamps of the United States, a great variety of needlework, and research on the Genealogies of the Hitchcock and Lyon families. She made major contributions to the Hitchcock Genealogy 1958, published by her brother, Dr. Clarence H. Hitchcock, of Sudbury, Ontario, Canada. With her permission, a considerable number of write-ups of members of the Lyon family have been based on her research and the above book.

Avis graduated from Richmond High School in 1943 and from the Port Huron Business College in 1944. She worked as a secretary at an insurance company for two years and for four years as secretary to the Engineer-Manager of the St. Clair County Road Commission.

Seventeen years and two teenagers later, she went back to work as a receptionist for the Port Huron Public Schools. After one year she accepted a job to become the account clerk for the Chippewa Intermediate School. She stayed there two years and since August, 1969, is back with the St. Clair County Road Commission where she has charge of various insurances, the purchase of office supplies, and the hiring of office help.

Her husband, Arthur, is a journeyman Tool and Die Maker and works at Prestolite Wire & Cable Company in Port Huron. He is active in the Masons.

Just before they were to be married, he was unable to remember Avis's name when he tried to introduce her to a friend. He is still trying to live down this memory lapse.

Chapter V

PHEBE ANN (LYON) CHURCH FAMILY

Phebe Ann Lyon (Simeon[1]), daughter of Simeon and (Lillie) Diadamia (Taylor) Lyon, was born on August 20, 1833, in Castile, New York.

On April 24, 1853, she married Charles John Church, who was born in New York on June 8, 1830. He died July 9, 1912, and was buried in the Pease Cemetery. Phebe died February 16, 1895, in Adams Township, Hillsdale County, Michigan, of kidney trouble and was also buried in the Pease Cemetery, Wheatland Township, Hillsdale County. Their children were:

	Birth	Married	Deceased
Pulaski Americus	May 1, 1854	March 30, 1884	November 7, 1925
Iola A.	May 5, 1855	January 1, 1874	——, 1944
William Augustus	May 24, 1857	1. January 1, 1880 2. December 20, 1931	December 18, 1936
Laura Matilda	April 23, 1859	November 11, 1886	May 29, 1917
Monroe Charles	August 2, 1863	1. March 30, 1886 2. April 10, 1918	May 27, 1927

In 1843, Phebe came to Michigan from New York with her parents, settling in Adams Township.

Charles Church, son of Russell and Charlotte (Migner) Church, moved with his family when a small child to Canada where he spent his childhood. At age twenty-one he came to Michigan and resided in Hillsdale County.

They lived, during the last years of Phebe's life, in a small house near the road in front of the larger house built by her father, Simeon Lyon, on the 100 acres he bought when he first came to Michigan from New York. After Phebe's death, Charles lived with his son, Pulaski, and Ida (Lyon) Church, on a farm about a mile south of the Bross schoolhouse. After the passing of Pulaski, the farm was operated many years by Anson Church, son of Pulaski and grandson of Charles.

When Amelia (Lyon) Lamb and Ben Lamb had purchased the 100 acres and lived in the house built by Simeon, they were quarantined at home with their six children for smallpox. Three of the children were very dangerously sick. A nurse or other help was much needed. But no one dared to come in the house to help except Charles Church. He did come and helped much. He had been vaccinated while he was serving in the Civil War. Charles was much appreciated for what he did and is still well remembered.

Henry Anson	January 14, 1890	November 1, 1923	April 24, 1959
Lizzie Blanche	August 2, 1892	September 12, 1916	————

Except for two years in Benzie County, Michigan, Pulaski lived his entire life in Hillsdale County. After his death, his wife Ida married Benjamin S. Lamb, of Wheatland and Adams townships, in 1928.

Since Pulaski's wife Ida (Lyon) Church was a daughter of Henry Lyon, oldest son of Simeon Lyon, all of their children, listed above, grandchildren, great grandchildren, etc., are written up in Chapter II on Henry Lyon. If interested, you are referred to that chapter.
